Hoover Calls Anti-Hoarding Parley For Saturday

PRESIDENT TO ADDRESS GATHERING

Federal Reserve Reports Say Hoarding of Money Is Resumed in Nation

DAWES WILL SPEAK

Figures Show 42 Millions of Dollars Hidden in Week Ending February 3

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(UP)—The need of President Hoover's new anti-hoarding campaign was indicated by the latest federal reserve reports estimating that hoarding money has resumed again after a brief letdown.

Figures indicated that as much as $42,000,000 may have been hidden under mattresses and in safe deposit boxes in the week ending Feb. 3, according to federal reserve officials.

Arrangements for an aggressive opening of the president's national campaign to enlist the average citizen in a patriotic war against $1,300,000,000 hidden "slacker dollars" were being made today.

President Hoover is preparing to address the anti-hoarding conference at the White House at 10 a. m. tomorrow. Charles G. Dawes, president of the reconstruction finance corporation, also will hurl his explosive oratory at the conference.

Heads of more than 40 national organizations covering every walk of life will be present. Through their respective organizations they probably cover a large percentage of the country's earning population.

All directors of the reconstruction finance corporation will be present, as the purpose of this conference is to enlist the average man in the same objective the corporation has. The corporation is to lend from its $2,000,000,000 resources to ease credit—thwarted banks and other institutions. The average man is asked to produce any "slacker dollars" he has hidden and deposit them in sound banks or conservative investments.

The latest federal reserve report shows that $1,500,000,000 has been

EDWIN J. LOEB ALSO WILL BE DICTATOR

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 5.—(UP)—Edwin J. Loeb, Los Angeles corporation lawyer, and Will Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors Association of America, occupied a position of joint dictatorship over the industry today.

Supported by Hollywood producers and New York executives of the major film companies, and in full cooperation with Hays, Loeb will rule over the western affairs of moviedom, it became known today. His throne will be gilded with a large salary.

Loeb, as an attorney, has been counsel for many of the producing companies and actors. His new duties will contiue that work in connection with contracts, releases and rights to stories, and his decisions, it was said, will be final.

WOMAN FROZEN TO DEATH AT BIG BEAR

JOHN VOORHIS, ONCE TAMMANY CHIEF, IS DEAD

Resident of New York City for 101 Years Dies in Home This Morning

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—(UP)—John R. Voorhis, 102-year-old former sachem of Tammany hall, died today.

He had retired recently as president of the board of elections, a post he had held since 1918.

Born in Pompton Lakes, N. J., Voorhis had been a resident of New York City for 101 years.

Voorhis had rounded out a full life. He saw the city of 200,000 grow into the great metropolis of today, and he himself became the oracle of Democratic politics. He died at his home on Greenwich street where for more than 60 years he had resided. In that time the once fashionable residential district had been converted into the now Bohemian Greenwich village.

Voorhis had felt he had almost outlived his time. Last July 27 when reporters called on him for his annual birthday interview he turned to them and said:

"I said the last one would be the last. I have had too many birthdays. Let the others have birthdays, I have had enough. It is all in the Maker's hands; we must let things take their course."

But John Voorhis never was an old man. Even when his mind turned back over the intervening span and he spoke of the farms on lower Fifth avenue, of the days when New York got so big that 14th street had to be widened from river to river, of the horse cars and of the great names of yesteryear he always did so as an interesting story teller rather than that of an old man digging back into reminiscences.

As a youngster Voorhis worked in the office of John Jay, a grandson of the first chief justice, for $1.75 a week. He was married when he was 21 to Lucinda Lefferts and 60-odd years ago built for his bride the fashionable home on Greenwich street where he died. His daughter resided with him.

Sixty-seven years ago he became Democratic leader of the ninth ward and in 1871 turned anti-Tammany during the Tweed exposures. His first political appointment came in 1873 as excise commissioner. He fought Tammany bitterly for 20 years, his organization becoming known as "Voorhis Democracy." Then in 1882 some of his co-leaders wanted a split ticket of Republicans and Voohis Democrats.

His differences with Tammany were patched up and he has ascended the Tammany ladder until he became the grand sachem.

FORMER DRY AGENT LEAVES FOR PRISON

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 5.—(UP)—Jack Ormsby, former federal chief field agent here, convicted of violation of the prohibition laws he was appointed to enforce, will leave tonight for the Nevada state prison at Carson City to begin an 18-months' sentence.

Ormsby fought the conviction for more than a year, his last plea for probation having been based on ill health. Assistant United States Marshal Davy Jones will take Ormsby to prison.

OIL TANKER DEATH TOLL IS 17 LIVES

MARCUS HOOK, Pa., Feb. 5.—(UP)—Questioning of injured survivors of the explosions aboard the oil tanker Bidwell, which cost 17 lives yesterday, failed today to explain the tragedy.

Most of the crew were asleep or on shore leave when the blasts tore open one side of the ship.

The death list may mount today. Olaf Rasmussen, 32 of Forest City, Ia., is believed dying of his burns and injuries at the Chester hospital, Chester.

'Tis Better To Give Than To Receive

PARK RAPIDS, Minn., Feb. 5.—(UP)—A local restaurant owner today wished he could return a $20 bill to a vagrant who begged a meal from him.

The hobo pulled a $20 bill from his pocket while taking out a match, the proprietor saw the money and grabbed it.

"Say, this was supposed to be a free meal," the hobo protested. "That's all right, buddy," the proprietor said, "I'll just make change for this bill."

"Remember, I didn't ask you to," the tramp reminded as he left him with $19.65 change.

At the bank the restaurant owner learned the bill was counterfeit.

FREE TRADE IN GREAT BRITAIN ENDS MARCH 1

Bill Provides for 10 Per Cent Ad Valorem Duty on All Imports

LONDON, Feb. 5.—(UP)—Free trade Britain died today with government proposals for a 10 per cent ad valorem duty on almost all imports, effective March 1, and plans for ultimate taxation of 75 per cent of all imports.

In an effort to correct the adverse trade balance and attract capital, the government proposed a tariff committee which will recommend additional duties, either permanent or temporary, for the "general interest of trade and industry."

A maximum duty of 100 per cent was proposed against goods from countries having discriminatory tariffs against Britain.

The general tariff revenue was expected to be between 70,000,000 and 80,000,000 pounds sterling ($300,000,000) annually.

Announcement of the tariff plan in the House of Commons by Chancellor of Exchequer Neville Chamberlain was tantamount to adoption of the measure. The National Government has the strength to rush the bill through when introduced next week.

The bill also will authorize an unlimited duty on any articles now exempt, or an added tax on articles already dutiable where advisable.

The tariff is designed chiefly for revenue but it is certain to discourage imports.

Chamberlain enumerated "only one or two of the most important items" which will be exempt from the proposed 10 per cent ad valorem duty. They included wheat, wool, cotton, meat and tea, but the chancellor added quickly that wheat imports soon would be restricted through the wheat quota bill.

AL SMITH TO MAKE HIS PLANS PUBLIC

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—(UP)—Alfred E. Smith's decision to support or oppose the presidential candidacy of Franklin D. Roosevelt who made three nominating speeches for Smith is expected at 3 p. m. Saturday in a "political statement" promised by Smith.

While Smith did not say so, it was assumed the statement would deal with his plans for the presidential campaign.

Several courses open to Smith were discussed.

He may announce his candidacy.

He may announce he will permit his friends to use his name in state primaries but renounce any intention to obtain delegates unless there is a "demand."

He may outline what he believes should be the party's platform and declare he will support any candidate who supports that platform or plank.

AIR LINER AND EIGHT CHARRED BODIES FOUND

Victims of Plane Accident to Be Taken to Bakersfield Late Today

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 5.—(UP)—Just a week after a Century-Pacific air liner crashed in the blizzard-swept Tehachapi mountains, bodies of the eight victims, crushed and charred, were to be brought to Bakersfield today.

Six days of search revealed the twisted skeleton of the plane on a 2000-foot hillside four miles west of Fort Jejon, not far from Lebec. Paul Appadeca, Indian range rider, found the wreckage.

The plan had struck with terrific force. Pilot J. V. Sandblom, with a record of 4000 hours in the air, had had no time to switch off the ignition.

Cascading gasoline from the wreck fired, incinerating the eight occupants in a brief burst of flame.

Sandblom's body was crushed under a huddle of the three motors. Six others were massed at the plane's front. Only one, that of Mrs. F. H. Frickelsen of San Diego, had been thrown clear.

Appadeca sighted the wreckage, turned and mushed through the snow toward Tejon. "I didn't want to see the dead," he said.

He met four fish and game deputies and led them to the wreck.

The plane was on the regular route between Bakersfield and Los Angeles. Its position indicated the pilot had despaired of reaching his destination in the raging blizzard, and had turned back toward Bakersfield.

Catches Fire

The undercarriage had been torn off as the plane sheared a short path through scrub oak. The wings were not broken, although the fusilage was crushed. The occupants had no time to struggle for freedom after the crash, if any lived. The ship apparently had struck and immediate caught fire.

Through last night watch fires burned at the scene, as men kept a lonely vigil over the dead.

Other passengers were Chief Deputy Sheriff Frank Dewar, Los Angeles; Miss Marie Combs of Bakersfield; Miss Nita McGrath of Berkeley, W. H. Smith and J. H. Polhemus of San Francisco and S. B. Swan of Pomona, Calif.

Had the palne been 75 feet higher it would have cleared the

CHANGE THINKING IS BAKER ADVICE

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 5.—(UP)—Former secretary of war, Newton D. Baker, urged nations to adopt an international viewpoint in an address at a luncheon given in his honor here.

"To preserve our civilization we must assume that some of the things we always have believed were true may not be correct," Baker said.

"We must change the system of thinking whereby each nation considers itself indisputably the world's greatest. We must adopt an international attitude which will permit all nations to cooperate towards a still higher type of civilization."

Baker was received enthusiastically.

STATE WILL DIVIDE 6 MILLION IN FEES

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 5.—(UP)—Division of $6,668,062, representing automobile license fees paid by California motorists during 1931, between the state and the various counties was announced today by the department of motor vehicles.

One-half the amount went to the state for highway maintenance work and the remaining $3,334,031 was allocated to the counties on the basis of each county's automobile registration. Los Angeles county received the largest share, being awarded $1,362,240; San Francisco was next with $249,657, and Alameda third, with $235,539.87.

200 Persons Marooned In Lake Resort

Woman Manager of Camp Found Dead on Floor of Her Cabin

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif., Feb. 5.—(UP)—An elderly woman, known only as Mrs. Lehman, was frozen to death in her cabin at Big Bear lake and more than 200 other persons are marooned there, badly in need of milk and bread, according to word brought here today by two San Bernardino businessmen.

James Green and Charles Wurz left Big Bear at 3 p. m. yesterday by sled and snowshoes, and arrived here at 8 a. m. today with their tragic story.

All telephone lines to the valley are down, and six feet of snow covers the level ground, with drifts as high as 15 and 20 feet.

It will be ten days before the marooned persons can be brought out by road, they said.

Mrs. Lehman, manager of Andrews camp, was found frozen to death on the floor of her cabin. Through an open door snow had drifted until more than a foot covered the cabin floor and the body.

Children in particular are in need of milk, Wurz and Green said. Otherwise the valley is well supplied with food.

The storm began late Sunday night and all day Monday a blizzard was in progress, continuing at intervals until yesterday morning. The snowbound are mostly Los Angeles residents who went to the valley for a short vacation.

Conditions have been bad in the Big Bear area for some time. Yesterday it was necessary for an army airplane from March field, Riverside, to drop a death message to a snowbound family from Redlands.

Mrs. J. C. Brandenberg of Redlands died and her husband and children in the family winter home on Big Bear were snowbound.

Snowplows have proven of no value in clearing the huge drifts. One state highway commission plow has required two days to clear two miles of road. Others are snowed in.

KIDNAPED BABY IS FOUND IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 5.—(UP)—The baby of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas T. Aguilar of Los Angeles, kidnaped last week, was found alive on a side street in Tacuba, a suburb of the capital, by police today.

Carol Lou, the six month old daughter, was emaciated, unwashed and poorly clothed but apparently not seriously harmed.

The infant's discovery was made accidentally after police had exhausted every clue to learn the child's whereabouts, and after her parents had given up all hope of ever seeing her alive again.

Police were called to stop a fight between a man and a woman in one of the suburb's side streets. They found the baby lying on the sidewalk near the disputants, both of whom were immediately held for investigation in connection with the kidnaping.

HOUSE LEADERS ARE TOLD TO CUT WORK

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(UP)—Speaker Garner instructed his leaders today to slacken house tempo which is being blamed for deaths of two members and the illness of several others.

When Rep. Crisp, Dem., Ga., warned his colleagues not to "kill yourselves with overwork," he voiced a gradually growing feeling inspired by long sessions, lengthy committee meetings, and accentuation of routine duties, such as appointments and answering mail.

The depression is largely responsible for the high pitch at which the house has worked. Speed has been the watchword in getting out bills. Sixteen or 17 committees get to work early every morning. The house itself, has been sitting late every day.

FRENCH PEACE PROJECT GIVEN TO ARMS MEET

Calls for Drastic Military Action to Prevent Armed Warfare

GENEVA, Feb. 5.—(UP)—A French project for disarmament was issued today to the delegates of 57 nations at the world arms conference, providing for drastic military action to prevent war.

The project would create an international police force to prevent war and an international army to suppress war or assist the victim of aggression.

The forces would be at the disposal of the League of Nations, which would organize their command.

The French proposal suggests that heavy long distance artillery vessels over 10,000 tons, carrying guns over eight inches and submarines above a certain tonnage, shall be placed at the disposal of the league.

The French proposed that the league alone shall have the right to the disposition of heavy bombing airplanes above a certain tonnage.

The French proposal embodied new rules for the protection of civilian populations. It provided for the prohibition of the use by aircraft or artillery of projectiles containing poison gas, bacteria or incendiary materials.

Bombardment more than a certain number of miles from the front line in land warfare would be forbidden. Coastal bombardment would be subject to similar restrictions.

The international police force proposed would be permanently available, with complete freedom of passage over international borders.

The French announcement said: "France is prepared to make the following contributions to the international force in case of conflict outside Europe:

"Firstly, a mixed brigade; secondly, a light naval division; third, a mixed group of aircraft; fourthly, land warfare material without personnel; fifthly, munitions."

SENATE CONFIRMS MELLON NOMINATION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(UP)—The senate today confirmed appointment of Andrew W. Mellon as ambassador to Great Britain.

At the request of Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, who reported Mellon's nomination, the senate granted unanimous consent that the president be notified immediately of the confirmation instead of waiting until two executive sessions have passed.

Opposition to the confirmation of Mellon was registered only by Senator Kenneth McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, who announced that he disapproved of the appointment.

JAPANESE AIRPLANES IN BOMBING ATTACK LEVEL NATIVE SHANGHAI CITY

NANKING RAKED BY WARSHIPS

COPYRIGHT 1932, BY UNITED PRESS

SHANGHAI, Feb. 5.—(UP)—The 31st Infantry, the first American expeditionary force to China since the Boxer rebellion, arrived today from Manila at the height of a terrific battle between Japanese and Chinese forces in the Chapei sector.

The infantry, 1000 men strong, reached Shanghai on board the transport Chaumont. Seven United States destroyers arrived earlier in the day, augmenting American marine and naval forces concentrated in Shanghai.

The Chaumont arrived late this (Friday) evening. It was overdue, having been expected at 2 p. m. (1 a. m. E.S.T.). The troops will be landed tomorrow morning.

The Americans will disembark at the central customs jetty on the Bund and march up Nanking road to the "New World" amusement house to their new billets. Their barracks will be in the "New World Palace," part of the establishment known as "Shanghai's Coney Island."

Seven United States destroyers arrived from Manila.

The transport Chaumont with 1000 troops arrived today.

The British flagship H. M. S. Kent, with Vice Admiral Sir Howard Kelly aboard, reached Shanghai after a record run from Batavia.

The American and British warships anchored in the Whangpoo river in the heart of the city, greeted by the deafening roar of gunfire which rocked the city in the renewed Japanese onslaught.

Their arrival was part of the concentration in the war zone by these two major powers. They led the way for others, chiefly French and Italian, also mobilizing here, to protect lives or endangered nationals.

Heavy Losses

The Chinese troops suffered tremendous losses during the bombardment, Japanese reports indicated.

Ten Japanese airplanes loaded with highest explosive bombs flew low over Chapei. They opened up with machine guns over dwindling

MELLON NOMINATION IS SENT TO SENATE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(UP)—President Hoover today sent to the senate the nomination of Andrew W. Mellon to be ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary to Great Britain.

The nomination was dispatched from the White House with a group of other nominees for United States attorneys and marshals.

Earlier in the day the president had received assurances from Republican Floor Leader Watson of the senate that the nomination would be confirmed.

As soon as Mellon's nomination is confirmed, Mr. Hoover will send to the capitol the nomination of Ogden L. Mills to be his successor in the treasury post. The procedure is necessary to assure a continuous service of a secretary of the treasury. Mellon will not officially relinquish his present post until the confirmation is accomplished.

ROCKEFELLER STILL CONFINED TO HOME

ORMOND BEACH, Fla., Feb. 5.—(UP)—John D. Rockefeller today completed a full week of absence from his favorite game of golf because of a cold which has kept him house-bound at the Casements, his winter home here.

Since an official announcement three days ago that Rockefeller was suffering from the cold and was not in serious condition, no further authoritative word has been forthcoming.

Persons visiting the Casements on business reported they had not seen the 92 year old financier, and expressed the belief he was confined to his room, carefully conserving his strength.

ADM. TAYLOR IN REPORT CLAIMS CHAPEI RUINED

Advises Navy Department Shells Drop Near Neutral Territory

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(UP)—Admiral M. M. Taylor, commanding U. S. naval forces at Shanghai, advised the navy department today that the Chapei district of Shanghai "is now a total wreck" as a result of heavy gunfire between Japanese and Chinese forces.

Taylor, who sent his message from his flagship, the heavy cruiser Houston, reported the Japanese had attacked "with apparently little gain," and that the Japanese had bombarded near the international settlement boundary.

"Woosung forts," he said, "apparently are wrecked by air and ship bombardment, but there is no evidence the Japanese have occupied them."

He said fires which broke out after the gunfire and bombing added to the ruin of the Chapei area.

Col. R. R. Hooker, commanding American marines at Shanghai, advised that one Japanese airplane had been brought down by Chinese anti-aircraft guns about a half mile from the northwest corner of the international settlement boundary.

"Japanese planes engaged in bombing Chinese lines, flying over and alongside the edge of the settlement," Hooker said. "Four Chinese anti-aircraft shells landed in the vicinity of the regimental headquarters."

The Chinese legation received a dispatch from the Nanking foreign office saying that Japan military attacks on the Woosung forts and on Chapei had broken the "truce" at Shanghai. Japanese claim the Chinese fired first.

The message reported briefly on both alleged attacks and said:

"The commander of the Woosung

WILL ROGERS says:

ABOARD S. S. EUROPA, Feb. 5.—(To the Editor of The Register:) Well, got the disarmament conference off to a good start. Can't say it wasn't running smooth when I left. No meeting today on account of the war in China. They have to disarm between shots. Now I am going to make you a prediction. I believe that conference will get somewhere. You know why? Just because nobody thinks it will. I believe they will just accidentally do something. I have been to all of 'em and they all started out expecting big things, and then busted. At this one every delegate enters with an apology, so I kinder got some hopes. I give "Doc" Woolley her parting instructions and I am coming home to Cuckooland. God bless it. He hasn't lately, however, but He will when we deserve it.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

lines of Chinese, fighting desperately amid ruins of blackened buildings.

The Japanese advance was on two fronts. They moved into a Japanese cemetery with their right wing in the Chapei drive. The left concentrated on the North Station area. The Chinese were between the Japanese pincers. Their ammunition appeared low.

The aircraft carrier Hosho dispatched additional airplanes to cooperate with the attacking air fleet.

In addition to bombing Chapei, Japanese planes had concentrated briefly over Hungjao airdrome, on the western edge of the city.

The Japanese transport Maniya arrived with 1000 additional marines, field guns, howitzers and more machine guns, bringing the Japanese landing forces now in action to upwards of 6000 men.

Shells landed in the international settlement in increasing numbers, several near the United States marine lines.

40,000 Defenders

It was impossible to ascertain the casualties Japanese inflicted, but they must have been enormous as the Chinese were said to have 40,000 men defending Chapei.

Foreigners remained comparatively calm despite the war in their "own backyard." Volunteers in khaki, women in Red Cross insignia and the settlement police continued on duty day and night. Martial law prevails.

The United States warships here included the cruiser Houston, flagship of Rear Admiral Montgomery M. Taylor; and the destroyers Paul Jones, Parrott, Bulmer, Truxton, Borie, Peary, John B. Ford, Whipple, Barker, John D. Edwards, Smith-Thompson and the Pope.

The first contingent of voluntary American and British refugees to come out of Nanking arrived this evening on board the river steamer Tuck-Wo. The foreigners included women and children of Standard Oil Texas Corporation (Texaco) and British and American Tobacco Co. officials.

They said many remained at Nanking, but a steamer always was standing by. The refugees said the Japanese bombardment of Nanking was serious enough to make many believe it better to proceed to Shanghai than risk remaining. The steamer Anking was leaving Nanking carrying several evacuating families.

HARBIN OCCUPIED BY JAPANESE TODAY

HARBIN, Manchuria, Feb. 5.—(UP)—The Japanese completed the occupation of Harbin today during a final bitter battle in which Chinese troops were routed.

Japanese troops moved into both the old and new cities of Harbin after a stiff battle lasting two hours.

Japanese troops pursued the fleeing Chinese forces of General Ting Chow, and extended the area under Japanese control.

The 7000 Japanese residents of Harbin cheered arrival of the forces from home. They had been living in terror while the expeditionary forces marched on the city, under General Hasebe.

The Chinese troops and their commanding officers fled in complete route. General Ting Chow, commanding, and other anti-Kirin leaders, escaped to the north.

Chinese forces from Kirin province, favoring the Japanese, started the Harbin fighting which brought the Japanese to "protect their Nationals."

Heavy street fighting marked the fall of the last stronghold of Soviet influence in North Manchuria, with the Japanese using armored cars and tanks.

General Jiro Tamon, in immediate command of the Japanese forces under General Hasebe, head of the expedition, at once started organizing a temporary government.

He placarded the city with posters reassuring the population of order and fair plan. "White Russians" sent a delegation to thank the Japanese, and promised their cooperation.

Soviet Russians remained indoors.

The "White Russians" are those still loyal to the Czarist regime and are violently opposed to the soviets.

Additional Japanese airplanes and troops were dispatched to Harbin from Changchung, to the south, on the line between south and north Manchuria—erstwhile division between the Japanese and Russian spheres of influence.

General Tamon's main column entered Harbin to the wild cheers of the Japanese residents. General Hasebe's men led the conquering armies, gaunt and nearly exhausted after nine days of fighting over the frozen plains, in blizzards and below zero temperatures. There were many casualties.

General Suzuki's troops from Tsitsihar, to the west, have not arrived. They may return to Tsitsihar at once, since their aid in capturing Harbin was not necessary. Japan took Tsitsihar, on the Chinese Eastern railway to the west, some weeks ago in the first phase of their military campaign consolidating their positions in North Manchuria.

FIRST PLANE CRASH PHOTOS

rim of Johnson canyon, and probably returned safely to Bakersfild. Flying blind, beaten down by the storm. Pilot Sandblom lacked just that height to clear the last mountain on his return flight.

As the ship struck the top of the 2000-foot declivity, the power was still on, inspection of the propellers showed. The canyon is about 39 miles south and east of Bakersfield and 65 miles northeast of Los Angeles.

Inquest Planned

An inquest will be conducted at Bakersfield, where the charred bodies will be identified. Watches will be checked to determine the exact time of disaster.

The magic of aerial photography was also called into use, officials believing that photographic plates might show the missing air liner where the human eyes, improperly focused over a wide area, would not sight the object.

A United Press correspondent accompanied one of the aerial photography airships over the area where officials estimated the plane had crashed. This area was slightly to the north and east of the spot where the disaster actually occurred.

The area was photographed at an altitude of 7000 feet and 20,000 feet. Special lenses on huge cameras enlarged the scene below so that individual objects were clearly distinguishable, whereas the region appeared but a blur of black and white to the naked eye.

Emory Bronte, who piloted the United Press correspondent over the area Wednesday, sighted the wreckage yesterday but a terrific down current prevented him from flying close enough to obtain details.

During the past two days scores of cranks literally stormed the Century-Pacific company offices with freak methods of locating the liner's location. One person said he could locate the plane if he had a few strands of hair from one of the victim's head. Another claimed she could find the plane if she could obtain the handwriting of the pilot. A group of women were insistent that officials employ the services of a "psychic" who has been appearing in local theaters.

Pilots, observers and officials of the company were sitting around the ariport offices charting a new plan of operations yesterday afternoon, harassed, discouraged, on nerve's edge.

A telephone message from Lebec that the air liner had been found was like an electric shock. Orderly pandemonium broke loose. Two Century-Pacific tri-motors and a private airship were disappearing over the horizon towards the scene before 10 minutes had passed.

Horses and tractors were being used to transport the eight bodies of the victims into Fort Tejon where ambulances waited to take the remains to Bakersfield.

For six days every means of transportation and locomotion was used in the search for the missing air liner. It was estimated more than 300 persons in 150 airplanes were engaged in the search, in addition to the hundreds engaged in land parties.

Yesterday, officials of the Century-Pacific company relied upon two things to guide them to the wrecked plane.

Fast scouting planes were immediately despatched to every spot in the region where flocks of buzzards were reported. A message stating that buzzards were flying over the north side of Cummings mountain was the signal for two planes to start racing into the district to reconneiter.

HOOVER CALLS ANTI-HOARDING CONFERENCES

added to the money in circulation in the last year, including $42,000,000 last week. The week previous, money in circulation dropped $24,000,000 indicating a slowing down of hoarding. Officials can only guess at the amount actually hoarded. Bank figures show the money "in circulation," that is in the hands of the public. They figure legitimate needs of business for money are possibly 25 per cent less now than a year ago, yet there is more than $1,000,000,000 additional money in the public's hands. Hence the increase must be hoarded, they argue. President Hoover estimates the hoarded money at $1,300,000,000. Some federal reserve officials put it at nearer $2,000,000,000.

One destructive effect of the hoarding wave has been to force many banks to hoard cash, thus further knotting the money situation. With depositors in a jumpy frame of mind, bankers are in constant fear of runs which may wreck them no matter how sound they may be intrinsically. Therefore they are tempted to make no loans that can be avoided, and to hang on to every cent of cash that comes in.

Despite their concern over hoarding, bankers appear to have no concern over ability of the country to remain on a gold basis. Governor George L. Harrison of the New York Federal Reserve bank recently said gold reserves of the United States could stand an expansion of $3,500,000,000 in currency, an expansion of more than 60 per cent of the present amount, or in event of a foreign run on American gold, $1,500,000,000 could be taken out by foreign countries without endangering reserves. This is double the amount drawn during the heavy run last October.

IMPORTED COOK

WINNIPEG—Canadian girls are all right, but they can't cook for William Jelmerston. Wanting to get married and remarking that Canadian women "are pretty handy with a can opener, but don't know how to use a frying pan," Palmerston enlisted the aid of Mayor Ralph Webb. Webb started the ball rolling by putting William in touch with Annie Highnett, of England. The two corresponded and were recently married when Annie arrived at Quebec.

INVENTORY OF BANK ASSETS IS FILED

Inventories of assets for the Bank of Balboa and its Costa Mesa branch, and for the First State bank of San Juan Capistrano were filed in the office of County Clerk J. M. Backs yesterday by Edward Rainey, superintendent of banks in California, as required by law.

Movie Cartoonist Jailed Here On Speeding Charge

Benjamin Harrison, 35, Los Angeles cartoonist, employed as a senario writer and cartoonist for Krazy Kat cartoons was today an inmate of the Orange county jail, serving a sentence of five days for speeding.

He was found guilty by Judge Kenneth Morrison of a charge of speeding 60 miles an hour in a 40-mile zone filed by Oscar Kelly, member of the California highway patrol, but checked into the jail for the first time last night.

Harrison, who resides at 570 North Rossmore street, in Los Angeles, delayed coming here for several weeks, due to illness in his family, it was reported.

Bus Line Makes $124,875 Payment

The highway fund of the state of California was today benefited by $124,875.88, represented by a tax payment of Pacific Greyhound lines. This sum is the first semi-annual payment of the four and one-fourth per cent of gross receipts of the bus company, due in 1932.

DEATHS

A WORD OF COMFORT

It is easy to be ruthless, when you feel that you have been badly treated, and to find zest in openly violating God's recognized will for man's good. It is easy to be selfish and to give no consideration to the fact that you are making other people's burdens harder to bear. But yielding to suc himpulses is evidence not of strength but of despicable, shameless weakness. The honest and strong man tries to do his part and to live worthily even when he feels that life has not given him a square deal.

As he becomes master of his own soul, he learns a new trust in God and lives in the certain hope that at the end of the road he shall be united again with the one God who has tenderly cared for while he finished his task like a man.

ASKS $10,000 IN SUIT FOR WATER DAMAGE

Despite the fact that most of Orange county is wondering how to increase its water supplies, there is one place where there is plenty, in fact too much to suit the plaintiffs in a lawsuit filed today in superior court.

Alice M. Higley and Ella Finley brought suit against Winifred Mae Morris, Floyd M. Morris and K. Akiyama, in an attempt to correct the condition from which they said their lands are suffering.

According to the complaint lands owned by the plaintiffs are adjacent to property owned by the Morrises, which has been leased to Akiyama since February 1, 1928. Akiyama has gone into the business of raising gold fish and the ponds where he tends them and watches them grow have been poorly constructed, the complaint said. At any rate water from the ponds seeps out and gets into the plaintiff's lands, causing them to become soggy, the plaintiffs declared.

For relief they asked $10,000 damages and an order restraining the defendants from maintaining the ponds in such a manner as to allow seepage onto adjacent lands.

STUNT FLIER DIES IN FILM LOT CRASH

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 5.—(UP)—Leo Nomis, one of Hollywood's most prominent movie stunt fliers, was killed instantly today during the filming of scenes in a picture called "Sky Brides."

Nomis' death had an ironical twist, for he was working on the ground at the time of the accident. His airplane was spinning around on the ground during a comedy sequence when it suddenly nosed over. He was instantly killed.

SPEEDING HATCHING

LONDON,—By exerting a pressure of nearly a ton to the square inch, scientists at work in the Imperial College of Science at South Kennsington have succeeded in hatching a hen's egg in a tenth of the normal time it ordinarily takes. The eggs were placed in special steel cylinders and the pressure was exerted. Despite the weight, the eggs were not cracked.

Chinese Dies Waiting Deportation

Tom Yeang, Chinese federal prisoner here, beat a "rap" handed him by the U. S. government for illegal entry into the United States, late last night. He died at the Orange county hospital after a short illness.

Yeang had been transferred to the local jail from San Diego where he was sentenced and was awaiting deportation. Other Chinese prisoners in the jail here, on learning of his death, immediately drew curious characters and letters in Chinese on a board they obtained in the jail and presented it to the jailer.

A Chinaman who talks English explained that the board was to be buried with Yeang. "It will help to keep the evil spirits away." The body of Yeang is at the Winbigler funeral home.

SPEECH CLINIC FOR CHILDREN TO BE OPENED

A speech clinic for the purpose of diagnosing speech difficulties and perhaps conducting classes in training children who need the work, will be held at the school administration building on North Main street tomorrow from 10 a. m. to noon. The service will be offered free by Mrs. Amy G. Miller, supervisor of speech improvement of the Santa Ana schools, under the auspices of the adult education department.

In speaking of the speech problem, Mrs. Miller said that children's speech and personalities may be crippled by over indulgent parents who unconsciously wish them to remain dependent upon them. These same children, she said, would be happier if they were brought up to feel that a bit of the home responsibility was theirs. They would feel more important, more on a plane with adults and not helpless infants, she explained.

Sometimes lisping and other letter sound substitutions are caused by the child's desire to remain an infant in both speech and behavior, she said. This sometimes happens when a younger child arrives in the family, and is an attempt on the part of the elder to hold his place in the attention of the family.

"Can the average child who starts school with a speech handicap make a satisfactory adjustment or become successful in his relations with his fellows?" she asked. "A survey of 1500 freshmen in one of our leading colleges revealed the astonishing statement that 50 per cent had some defect in speech."

Mentally, children with speech defects often are keen and more observing than the average child, Mrs. Miller said. "To protect them from the curious observation and remarks of their innocent companions the best time to correct their speech is in the home and kindergarten when the child is still in the imitative stage."

PROBLEMS OF MEXICANS TO BE CONSIDERED

Information that will tend to foster a feeling of greater understanding and sympathy for the Mexican people in Southern California and a mutual working out of their problems, is being given at a series of meetings held here this afternoon and tonight under auspices of the International Fellowship. Sessions are being held at the First Methodist church.

During the afternoon session which started at 3:30 p. m. persons prominent in Welfare work in the Southland were speakers. Rose Camers, of the Americanization department of the Fullerton high school, spoke on the topic "Our Orange County Mexicans" and the final minutes of the afternoon session were devoted to a discussion of the problem opened by Mrs. Golden Weston, director of adult education in the Santa Ana city schools. Rafael De La Colina, Mexican consul at Los Angeles, was scheduled to preside.

As a part of the program a Mexican dinner, under direction of Mrs. W. W. Warwick, is to be served at 6:30 p. m. at the Rossmore cafeteria. This dinner will be served at a nominal cost.

The evening program will convene at 7:30 with J. F. Burke, president of the Santa Ana Council of International Relations, presiding. A group of entertainers will be featured on this program. The closing address will be given by Dr. C. N. Thomas of Santa Monica. He will talk on "Our Future Relationship to Mexico and the Mexican People."

EPIDEMIC OF TANK THEFTS AT LAGUNA

Laguna Beach police have an idea that someone in their city has a gasoline tank "complex."

Three huge tanks have been stolen in the seaside community during the past several days, it was reported to the sheriff's office today.

A 1000-gallon tank was stolen from near the city yesterday, the thieves taking it from a four wheeled truck. A 50-gallon tank was stolen from a side street and several days ago a 1500-gallon tank was taken from Aliso Vista, near Laguna.

RUTH JUDD TRIAL RECESSES FOR DAY

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 5.—(UP)—The jury in the Winnie Ruth Judd trial rested today because it was a legal holiday in Arizona.

It had already received the most damaging testimony the state has presented in its attempt to hang Mrs. Judd on the charge she murdered Agnes Anne LeRoi, a close friend.

The testimony was that of Dr. Joseph Catton, San Francisco alienist, who said the blonde defendant told him she killed Mrs. LeRoi and Mrs. LeRoi's roommate, Hedvig Samuelson, because of J. J. Halloran, wealthy Arizona sportsman.

This supported directly the state claim that jealousy over Halloran led Mrs. Judd to shoot the two girls to death.

ROAD BUDGET INCLUDES $135,000 FOR NEW ROADS; 40 CENT LEVY BRINGS $322,468

The amount set up in the tentative budget estimate for the road department for the coming fiscal year is $1,123,814.

An analysis of the tentative budget, which the supervisors now have under consideration, shows that included in the total is $322,468.99, which the budget estimate shows is the anticipated income to be raised by the four supervisorial road districts outside of Santa Ana by the usual 40 cent district road tax. Elimination of this tax has been recommended by the last two grand juries of the county, and is also sought by the Farm Bureau.

Elimination of this tax would mean that the amount to be raised from the taxpayers of the county for road work would save the taxpayers $322,468.99 in these four districts.

Enough Roads

The survey also shows that $135,000 is set up for construction of new roads. The last grand jury and many individuals and some organizations in the county hve expressed the opinion that the county has plenty of roads and that no additional sums should be expended during these times of retrenchment for this purpose, especially in view of the demand for relief on welfare funds.

Many persons have expressed the demand that there should be more direct benefit to the incorporated communities of the county for their contributions through gas tax, auto license fees, and the general county road tax. In one year, according to an engineer, the citizens of Santa Ana alone contributed $357,000 in taxes that went for roads in the county, and received no return at all that year.

Of the $135,000 fund set up for new construction, the budget this year sets aside $75,000 from the anticipated gas tax and car registration receipts totaling some $375,000, for assistance to cities in construction of through highways.

$75,000 To Cities

This $75,000 is based upon expectations as to what the state highway department might do. It is understood that the state is contemplating a general widening program along the coast highway. Another project that is anticipated is the construction of a link through Orange as part of the secondary highway from Newport Beach to San Bernardino. Tentatively $30,000 of the $75,000 for assistance to cities has been set up for this project. State engineers have proposed a route east of Orange which if followed would eliminate need for this assistance.

The remainder of the $135,000 estimated for new construction has been committed as Orange county's share of the Ortega highway program in which it nas joined with the state and Riverside county in a joint highway district to build a road over the mountains between San Juan Capistrano and Elsinore. From the gas tax and car registration receipts expected, $25,000 has been set up for the Ortega highway project. The fifth district road fund has been made accountable for $15,000 of this sum and the county general road fund for $20,000, making a total of $60,000.

For Reconstruction

This completes the tentative plans for new construction. Money set aside from the county good roads fund and the four road district funds is to be used for reconstruction of present roads, maintenance, reoiling of roads, grading, weed control, signs, etc. Any money used for resurfacing present roads will not come from the county good roads fund. This fund will be used for maintenance and is chargeable for part of the salaries.

According to Arthur Beard, assistant highway superintendent, about 50 per cent of the cost of a contract job of permanent road construction ordinarily goes for labor. The remainder is for material and the contractor's profit.

From the gas tax and auto registration receipts, $145,000 has been set aside for reconstruction, grading, oiling and resurfacing. Beard estimated that 80 per cent of this money would be paid out for labor, with the remainder for material, which would be practically all road oil. None of this work would be done by contract.

Assist Districts

Another sum of $130,000 from the same fund has been set up for retirement and interest on bonds against road improvement districts scattered over the county. This sum compares with $113,135 set aside for this purpose last year. Beard said that balances in road improvement district funds have fallen so low that assistance will be necessary on a larger scale next year because tax delinquency of any account would put the funds in the red.

The road improvement districts are formed on petitions to the board of supervisors, but elections are not held. The assistance would be given to supplement district road improvement.

Money set up for use in the four road districts would go to labor to the tune of 80 per cent, Beard said. The remainder would be used for material such as culverts, oil and chemicals for killing weeds.

The tentative budget showed a cut of a half million dollars under the amount allowed for the present fiscal year.

FARM BUREAU BOARD SEATS NEW DIRECTORS

A resolution to the effect that the Orange County Farm Bureau favors working with existing supply departments rather than setting up commercial activities within the Farm Bureau was adopted by the board of directors yesterday at a meeting in the Farm Bureau offices here.

Action was taken after a report was made by the committee on marketing, headed by S. W. Stanley, of Tustin. The report recommended this policy after a study of the matter had been made.

The newly formed bean growers' department was accepted by the board and Vernon C. Heil, of Smeltzer, chairman of the department, was seated as a member of the board of directors.

C. E. Lush, of Orange, was seated as director from the bee keepers department, succeeding Roy Bishop, of Orange.

Robert Hazard, of Midway City, was seated as director from the dairy department, of which he is chairman. He succeeded E. A. Wakebaum, of Garden Grove.

The board authorized J. W. Crill, of Garden Grove, president of the Farm Bureau, and Roland D. Flaherty, executive secretary, to sign the new uniform contract with the California Farm Bureau federation. The federation was incorporated last October and the by-laws provide for the uniform contract with each county Farm Bureau.

Ralph McFadden, of Placentia, chairman of the Farm Bureau water committee and sewage reclamation committee, made a report on water problems and activity of the sewage reclamation committee.

Figures of the 1930 census reveal that there are 13,920,600 foreign-born people in the United States.

RESOLUTION OF CONFIDENCE IS VOTED BY CLUB

President Hoover's appeal for restoration of confidence, announced yesterday, brought forth an immediate response from the Santa Ana Lions club, in the form of a resolution adopted yesterday. This resolution expressed confidence in the fundamental soundness of the government and financial institutions, particularly those in Orange county.

The resolution, as submitted to the club by Attorney Franklin West was:

"Whereas, the present period of economic depression has given rise to a condition of hoarding of resources and the consequent destruction of credit, and

"Whereas, the principal need at the present time is the extension and liberalization of credit facilities to farmers and business men, and

"Whereas, the credit institutions are greatly crippled in furnishing these needed credits, principally because of the hoarding of resources, and

"Whereas, the federal government has begun what is known as a 'hoarding fight' and the president has requested citizens to join in a concerted effort to instill into the public confidence in our government and institutions for the purpose of successfully waging a battle against depression, now therefore

"Be It Resolved, that the Lions club of Santa Ana, California, is desirous of assisting in the dissipation of fear and the restoration of public confidence and that said club believes in the fundamental soundness of our government and our financial institutions, and particularly in the soundness of our local banks, and pursuant to President Hoover's request this club urges the return of hoarded monies back into the channels of industry, either by conservative investment or by deposits in sound institutions."

The program, featuring Junior Lions club activities, was in charge of William Cook. Ray Glesner acted as spokesman for the Junior Lions present and told of the club work in junior college, Junior Lion Gould gave a piano solo, Martin Bowman gave a vocal solo, accompanied by Miss Evelyn Stafford at the piano, and Lecil Slaback played two piano-accordion numbers. The program was recorded on a phonograph record and will be presented to the Junior Lions club.

WELFARE FUND FOR VETS IN NEED OF SUBSTANTIAL REPLENISHMENTS, REPORTED

"Because of the extensive welfare program of the past year among disabled veterans of the county, the replenishment of the welfare fund is an outstanding need at this time," today declared Harry S. Pickard, commander of the Jack Fisher post, Disabled American Veterans, and head of the committee perfecting plans for the annual Military ball to be given Monday night, February 22.

According to Pickard, the D. A. V. organization faces a stupendous task in the coming months. He points out that the Citizens' committee working with the post in handling the Military ball, is hopeful that as hearty a response as is consistent with the present industrial and financial situation, will be made by the public throughout Orange county. "This response will enable the men aiding in the welfare of their more unfortunate comrades, to function 100 per cent during the next 12 months," he declared.

Recalls Origin

Commander Pickard recalled that the Military ball was originated in 1928 by the late Jack Fisher, at that time head of the Orange County D. A. V. association. "He proposed the ball with a view to creating a fund to assist all the veterans who suffered such wounds and disabilities in the World war as to make it almost impossible to meet their obligations of life," Pickard continued.

The Citizens' committee, which includes prominent men and women in all sections of Orange county as well as members from both Jack Fisher post and its auxiliary, is working with redoubled enthusiasm in face of the economic situation, to bring the ball to the attention of the public, and has met with a gratifying success in the ticket sales, which opened this week. The choice of the new Santa Ana Masonic temple ballroom for the function, has been commended and opinions have been freely expressed that this ballroom, spacious as it is, will be taxed to the utmost on the night in question.

Patriotic Event

The program of dancing will be broken by a short patriotic service when a speaker of note will talk on George Washington, whose birthday anniversary was selected as the date of the ball when it was first proposed.

Next Monday night's meeting of the citizens' vommittee, promises to be an important one, as results of ticket sales in various communities will be tabulated. Other committee reports will be given, and all members of this committee are asked to be present in the home of Mrs. F. E. Coulter, 326 South Ross street, at 7:30 o'clock.

STAMP COLLECTORS ASSEMBLE TONIGHT

Orange county stamp collectors, recently organized, will assemble at Kilpatrcik's bakery, 2656 North Main street, at 7:30 tonight for a meeting called by President F. A. Baker.

Several well known Long Beach philatelists will attend and display their collections. One of these will show his California State revenues, another Canada complete.

All collectors, whether or not identified with the Orange county organization, are welcome, Baker said.

"Every dollar hoarded means a destruction of from $5 to $10 of credit."

—HERBERT HOOVER.

Bring those dollars out of hiding!

Well, Santa Ana's "flurry" came!—and it has gone! Money scurried to the well known "sock", and other hiding places. It might as well come out into the fresh air again!—its absence is not only injuring the prospects of its owner and his family, but the common good.

A great national understanding is about to come to all of us. We have been through a few things lately and have acquired some knowledge. These hidden dollars are going to swarm out when people know for sure that it is to their interest to return them to circulation.

"Returning to circulation" means conservative investment, deposit in sound institutions, buying needed merchandise on today's opportunity market. Every hoarded dollar returned means an increase of $5 to $10 in credit. It will change hands many times in Santa Ana as it speeds about to ease up our economic life.

This is your opportunity to co-operate. Business and employment is definitely swinging UPWARDS! Let's speed it up by bringing those dollars out of hiding and taking advantage of opportunities that this generation will never see again!—the opportunities of a lifetime!

Late News From Orange And Nearby Towns

CONDITIONS IN RUSSIA TOLD CHURCH GROUP

ORANGE, Feb. 5.—Meeting yesterday afternoon in the church for their monthly session, members of the Woman's Missionary society of the Orange Christian church made plans for "self-denial" month and heard a talk on "Russia" by Mrs. J. R. Fletcher. Mrs. R. Pope, president, presided.

Announcement that the period for special self-denial will be observed during March and April up until Easter was especially appropriate as "Immortal Money" and "Security for the World's Poverty" were the theme and topic for the afternoon's program. The Rev. Franklin Minck, church pastor, told the members of the great need for funds with which to support missionaries and church workers in foreign fields.

Reports given included one that Mrs. Frances Conner, World Call secretary, who has been ill, is greatly improved. Miss Anna Granger, literature chairman, and Mrs. Margaret Moose, treasurer, gave reports. February 12 was announced as the date for the interdenominational day of prayer.

In presenting the Scripture lesson, Miss Granger described a picture whose general appearance was satisfactory, but whose details proved to be disappointing. Mrs. D. C. Pixley, chairman for the day, followed by giving the parable of the rich man who had enormous quantities of wheat which were selfishly hoarded instead of distributed among the needy. It was brought out that material things can aid in satisfying the soul when they are used for the good of others and in carrying out the Lord's work.

An article on "The Lonliness of Africa," was read by Mrs. Atherton. This told of the trials of a child born in this city encountered when living in Africa.

Mrs. Fletcher based her talk on Russia on a boog written by Morris Hindus, who was born in Russia, came to America and became a newspaperman and was sent back to his native land for story material. The book states that the civilization Russia is trying to enthrone has never been on land or sea.

In her review, Mrs. Fletcher told of the downfall of the cathedrals, and how many of them are used for housing chickens, rabbits and other such creatures. Former monks live in poverty under ground; while some church men gave up their religion so that they might receive the care of the government. Bolshevism admits that its great hope for Russia lies in stamping out religion.

The church is allowed to have nothing to do with culture of any kind, she continued. Some of the older people go to church; although the boys and girls do not. They are taught sciences, art and other subjects as substitutes for religion. Choirs and athletic clubs have been organized.

Sex equality is taught in Russia, Mrs. Fletcher said. Men and women are allowed to visit each other in their dormitories, and are considered "too busy" to take liberties.

In Russia, there is little inducement for the worker, she continued. The people get along as best they can, and devote much time to stealing, she added. The prisons are so fine that men and women do not mind joining inmates of the institutions.

The revolt of youth in Russia is much greater than it is here in America, the speaker said. Young people there have no respect for the aged.

The Russians are great admirers of the tractor and of all machinery, it was pointed out. They plan to have more factories, thus patterning after America with her many labor saving devices.

Early Spring Predicted By Pioneer

ORANGE, Feb. 5—An early spring is predicted by J. F. Blee, who has lived in this city since early boyhood and who is one of the pioneer merchants of the city. Lee, who has watched 40 California winters come and go, declares that an early Easter means an early spring.

Yesterday he predicted about 10 more days of cold weather after which he said he believed spring would come with a rush. He pointed out that Easter falls on would begin next Wedneday. March 27 and that Lent

SOVIET HEADS IN ATTACKS ON FAMILY LIFE

ORANGE, Feb. 5.—Finding that the Russian family as an institution was not contributing to the success of the plan under way in Russia, government leaders there are carrying on their attack on the family, just as they are attacking religion and other reminders of former regimes, declared Dr. Graham Hunter last night in his address at the Orange Christian church.

Russians Reconciled

However, he explained, as there has never been as much family life in Russia as there has been in America, the Russians are much more reconciled to the situation than people in this country can imagine. Following the revolution, men in charge investigated to find that superstition and ignorance were hand in hand in most families. Thus the institution as a whole was attacked, he said.

This does not mean, Dr. Hunter continued, that there is no family life in Russia. Although many of the people live in communes, where cooking and other duties are divided among the population, parents and their children have the privilege of spending their evenings together in their own little homes. Wisely, the government has not tried to discourage parental love for children, he added.

For families where the husband and wife both work, day nurseries for the children are provided by the government, the speaker said. The cost of this service is about one-sixth of the combined salary of the two.

Marriage is looked upon as an agreement between the man and woman, and does not necessitate the sanction of the government, he said. Those who wish may register their names as "married." Divorces are granted on request and on the demand of either of the parties concerned. Dr. Hunter brought out that in Russia the same as in California, one out of every four couples who marry, get divorced.

In 1920, 200 Russian Americans pooled their money, purchased tractors, and used them in establishing communist farms. In such places families live togteher successfully and co-operate to the fullest extent. However, Dr. Hunter said, the program is young, and the government is hurrying things too much. The people are endeavoring to follow "A paper made plan;" one which is lacking in precedent and the necessary foundation.

No Unemployment

Nevertheless, he continued, communism has done away with unemployment in Russia, and has established a security which the rest of the world does not know.

Also, he stated, Russia's new plan has been successful in equalizing the burdens between the men and the women. Women are given greater protection than ever before. They are given greater freedom, and encouraged to enter the industrial world, even though a satisfactory scheme for their place in the industries has not been worked out as yet. Government posters are used in encouraging women to take up trades and factory work. The girls are kept busy and receive salaries sufficient to provide them with all necessities.

Says Religion Needed

The situation in the far away country is deserving of a "new understanding" on the part of all other nations, Dr. Hunter brought out. The feeling of bitterness toward Russia must be done away with. Just as faith in God is one of the things making child life rich in America, so religion is needed to enrich the lives of the Russians. So far, the new plan has omitted religion, but lasting progress will not be made until the Russians put their trust in God, he concluded.

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands of sufferers from itching, bleeding or protruding piles have learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves nor cutting remove the cause.

Bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To end Piles an internal medicine must be used to stimulate the circulation, heal and restore the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was the first to discover a real internal Pile remedy. He called his prescription HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for 1000 patients with the marvelous record of success in 960 cases, and then decided every pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID tablets from their own druggist with a rigid money back guarantee.

Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID has an almost unbelievable record of success right in this city. So why waste time on external treatments or worry about an operation when McCoy Drug Co. invites every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID with guarantee of money-back if it does not end their Piles, no matter how stubborn the case?—Adv.

SCHOOL STORE AIDS STUDENTS IN EL MODENA

ORANGE, Feb. 5.—Early business training in the grade schools is an innovation introduced in the El Modena schools this year. The work was explained yesterday by J. D. Hayes, superintendent of the schools.

Hayes said: "At the beginning of the school year, a student store was organized. In this store was handled all school supplies that were ordinarily handed out by the teacher. This included such materials as paper, pens, pencils, rulers, erasers, blotters and other similar items. On the basis of past years, was estimated the value of such materials used by each pupil during the year. From this estimate pupils were given credit and allowed to purchase materials at their own discretion.

"The bookkeeping is handled through checking accounts. Each pupil has his own check book, makes his own deposits and writes out checks for the material he purchases. The checks used are practically the same as the commercial checks used among adults.

"The school has accomplished several things through the operation of a student store. First, economy. We believed that the children would be more thrifty in use of materials if put on their own responsibility in the use of supplies. Secondly, the child receives training in responsibility, judgment, thrift and in ability to handle his own accounts.

"The following is an example of the bank balances of the children. Fourth grade savings range from 12 to 75 cents. Fifth grade, 22 to $1.04; sixth grade .01 to $1.04; seventh grade, 67 to $1.36; eighth grade, 58 to $1.27. These figures are taken from the Roosevelt school and include 75 children. By handling supplies in this manner as compared to costs last year, these children have saved the district over $40 since the opening of school in September."

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC ON RADIO TONIGHT

Tonight at 6 o'clock the Santa Ana Conservatory of Music will present its second program over radio KREG. The program to be presented will feature the Conservatory's stringed trio comprising three of Orange county's most outstanding musicians. Members of the trio are: Mrs. Florence Newkirk, pianist; Miss Georgia Belle Walton, violinist; and Edward Burns, 'cellist. The soloist for the evening will be Mrs. Frances Whitney.

Mrs. Whitney has come to the Southland to spend the winter with her many friends, particularly among the music lovers, will welcome her return. She is not a stranger to the radio as she has been presenting programs from a station in Seattle, Wash. Her birdlike voice is lyric in quality and her sensitive appreciation of the modern school of music is especially satisfying.

Mrs. Newkirk is an artist of rare qualities. Her work is clear, accurate and pleasing. Her gracious manner and her ease at the piano, make her a charming figure in the music world.

It is always a joy to hear Miss Walton. There is a verve to her playing and a glorious youth to her tone that is nicely fused with a mature understanding of the compositions she chooses. It is probably that Miss Walton will be heard in solo numbers from time to time as these interesting musical treats are presented by the Conservatory.

Burns is a 'cellist of whom Santa Ana is proud. His tone is compelling and tender as he wills it and his excellent musicianship makes his performances delightful.

Miss Mary Cianfoni, already known to the people of Santa Ana as a dramatist of marked ability, will take part in the program this week presenting a dramatic reading.

VIOLINIST

Miss Georgia Belle Walton, talented violinist who will play with the Santa Ana Conservatory of Music trio tonight over KREG. Miss Walton will be heard at an early date in a group of solo number over the radio.

RADIO FEATURES

The Shoppers' Guide program brings to the careful buyer news from the stores that are offering bona fide bargains. This program is of vast benefit to the man or woman who is operating his or her private expenditures on the budget system.

For their second appearance The Beachcombers will play on a 15-minute program sponsored by the Pyroil Company. On this program they will offer an entirely new group of musical numbers. CASTILIANS WILL PLAY OVER KREG

Walker's Austex Castilians will be on the air again tonight presenting a program at 7:45, by electrical transcription, over radio KREG. In their program they will, as usual, feature compositions by Spanish and Mexican composers and played by Mexican musicians.

Hermosilla is the name of a very remote city in Old Mexico and is also the title given the spirited march opening the Castilians' program tonight. "Hermosilla" is to be followed by "Mi Viejo Amor,' a song full of love and romance. "Clavelitos," in English, "The Carnation," is a very beautiful dance number and will be included in the program. The program closes with "Mavi," a serenade as languid and beautiful as the dark eyes of Mexican senoritas."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON SUBJECT

For his weekly Sunday school lesson to be broadcast tomorrow over radio KREG at 11 a. m., the Rev. Franklin H. Minck, pastor of the Orange Christian church, has chosen "The Slavery of Sin" as the topic for discussion. New Medicine Drives Rheumatic Poisons from Joints—Muscles.
EASES PAIN FIRST DAY

Poisons settling in the joints and muscles cause rheumatism. You cannot get rid of rheumatic agony till these dangerous poisons are driven out of your system. External remedies and pain deadening drugs only give temporary relief.

What you need is RU-MA, the new medicine now sold by druggists everywhere, that acts directly on the liver, kidneys and blood, and helps expel through the natural channels of elimination the dangerous poisons that cause rheumatism.

No long waiting for your suffering to stop. RU-MA eases pain the first day and is the one rheumatic remedy guaranteed by McCoy Drug Store to free muscles and joints from all painful stiffness and swelling and stop your rheumatic suffering or your money back.—Adv.

PRESENT REPORTS AT L. T. L. SESSION

PLACENTIA, Feb. 5. — A large group of Loyal Temperance Legionnaires attended the meeting at their hall this week, where the Main Street group presented the program of the afternoon. Mrs. E. H. Brunemeier, leader of the group, assisted. Mary Ann Rymer, president, presided. After reports of the committees they presented a program.

At the close of the session all signed a "cheery card" to send to Billy MacNamee. After the session all called on Mrs. John Hartley, assistant director.

Mrs. LeRoy Grimm, leader of the Primrose group, and her club of Legionnaires will have charge of the program February 15.

REPORTS GIVEN AT RED CROSS SESSION

BUENA PARK, Feb. 5. — Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Ensign and Mrs. L. A. Sopha attended the meeting of directors held in the city hall in Fullerton Wednesday evening by the Fullerton branch of the Red Cross.

The meeting was in charge of Raymond Thompson, chairman of the Fullerton branch of the American Red Cross. Reports were given on the life saving work sponsored by the Red Cross at the high school. Reports were also read on the classes of home nursing, economics and hygiene for which the organization awards certificates.

Mrs. Ensign, president of the Grand Avenue P.-T. A. and a worker at the lunch room, gave a report on work accomplished, help given and working conditions found in answer to a request from Mr. Thompson.

The directory voted to continue the payment of $25 a month which the Fullerton chapter has given for the last three months and voiced their approval of the work being done at the lunch room.

At the right is a picture of the new Marathon Dam, on the site of one of the world's most famous battles. . . . Above, a view in the Boyati tunnel when it was under construction . . . showing how it was lined with pre-cast concrete blocks.

And Now a Water Works

On the Site of the Historical

Battle of Marathon

Richard M. Merriman, who used Pentelic marble for his dam . . . and saw his crushed stone broken by hand.

How American engineering brains built a dam of classic marble to give modern Athens fresh water, increasing the supply of a system built by Hadrian 1800 years ago

By OREN ARNOLD

IMAGINE yourself trying to get along with just one and one-half gallons of water a day, for drinking, bathing, cooking, washing, everything.

Inconceivable—and yet the citizens of Athens, Greece, scrimped along on that amount for centuries. Limited rainfall causes a semi-arid condition on the historic Plains of Attica. Difficulties of bringing water from distant sources seemed unsurmountable to the Greeks.

But when the supply per person per day threatened to drop to a meager one gallon, they decided to do something about it.

Incapable of remedying the situation themselves because of financial and engineering difficulties, they turned to America for help. They found it. In a short time an American firm had commissioned Richard M. Merriman, noted construction engineer from Bethlehem, Pa., to take charge of the matter.

Within a few weeks he had 5000 Greek laborers at work building a gigantic dam near the exact site of the immortal Battle of Marathon, and piercing the mountains with a tunnel to convey the waters to thirsty Athenians.

Mr. Merriman has just returned to America as a hero—a hero in Athens, that is. For he had blest the people there by raising their daily water apportionment to 16 gallons per person!

THE job was done in five years, at a cost of $12,500,000.

When you consider the tremendous difficulties to be surmounted in improving the supply for Athens, it becomes clear that Mr. Merriman's job was among the greater engineering feats ever to be accomplished in Southern Europe.

The project at Athens becomes all the more significant because of the historic background.

Mr. Merriman supervised construction of a dam 1000 feet long and 175 feet high. It is 145 feet thick at the base, and wide enough at the top to carry a roadway.

Built under the most modern construction methods, it is named Marathon Dam, for near that spot, in 490 B. C., Miltiades led a Grecian army to victory over the Persians in one of the world's decisive battles. There at the junction of the Haradra and Verana Rivers the immortal Pheidippides, bearing the news of victory, started his long run to Athens, a feat of physical endurance which moderns are still celebrating.

"I WAS always conscious of working on hallowed ground," Mr. Merriman says.

"Partially familiar with Grecian history and mythology, I naturally had an interest in the surroundings when I got there. But when I found that the dam site must be at the edge of this historic battlefield, I felt a peculiar awe toward it.

"No, I don't believe it materially affected our work, for the Athenians are accustomed to backgrounds of that sort in all their endeavors. They live and die under the shadow of the Parthenon. All their history is wrapped around artistic achievement, so it is more or less common to them.

"But when I found that we of the American firm were to use Pentelic marble on the new dam, I was really proud of it!

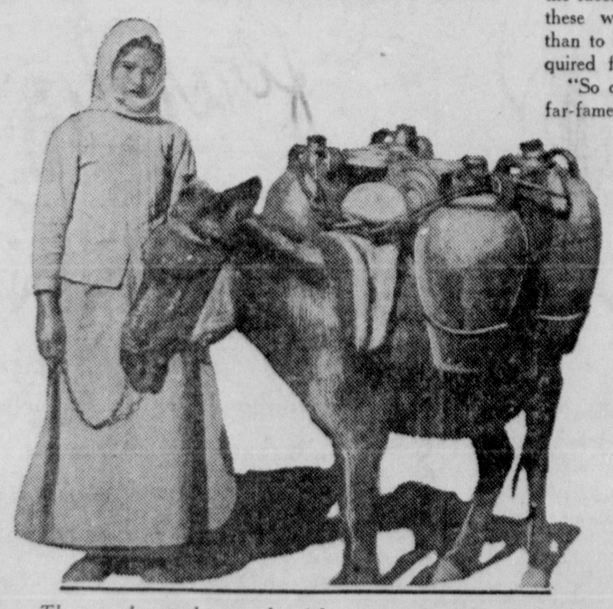
"For old Phidias, Athenian sculptor and architect during the reign of Pericles and builder of the Parthenon, used Pentelic marble on his job, too!

"His structure on the Acropolis still stands as the first pure example, the very beginning, of Doric architecture. It has been the mecca of architects for more than 2000 years.

"I CAN hope for no similar tribute to the Marathon Dam, but I can assure you it is not hurt any in appearance to be faced with the beautiful, gleaming marble from the hills of Pentelicon, nearby."

When the American layman learns that Athens' Marathon Dam, creating a new city water reservoir, is faced with expensive marble from the historic Pentelic Quarries, questions as to the expenditure of money are heard immediately.

Few American millionaires can afford Pentelic marble in their homes. And when it is remembered that Roosevelt and Coolidge Dams in Arizona are of prosaic, unfaced concrete, that Hoover Dam—biggest in all history—will have no ornamenting marble, skepticism as to Mr. Merriman's economy may be heard. But the answer is simple.



The new dam took away her job. . . . An Athenian water vendor of the old type necessary in the days of the perennial water shortage.

"In Greece," he explains, "stone masons are plentiful and excellent artisans, while carpenters are few. Lumber for forms and cement for concrete must be imported from abroad and are expensive, while the Pentelic marble is located but a stone's throw from the site of the dam.

"It was therefore less expensive to construct the faces of the dam of marble, and fill between these walls with cyclopean concrete, rather than to build the relatively expensive forms required for an all concrete structure.

"So quite naturally we used it. And if its far-famed beauty adds something to the appearance of the finished dam, then we are doubly fortunate."

BUILDING the dam, he points out, was by no means all of the work necessary. The water then had to be conveyed to the city, 19 miles away, and the construction of this aqueduct was one of the most interesting parts of the job.

"We were forced to cross the Parnes Divide, a mountain water shed, with an eight-mile tunnel," he says. "It is called the Boyati Tunnel.

"One-half of the tunnel was in rock, the other half in clay and conglomerate. This latter was excavated with pneumatic shovels. The tunnel was finished as it was excavated, being lined with precast concrete blocks, of which 390,000 were required.

"One of the most interesting things we did was to clean out and generally renovate the ancient Hadrian Aqueduct, a 15-mile tunnel through the Plains of Attica, 150 feet underground.

"This extraordinary aqueduct was built about the year 100 by the Roman emperor, Hadrian. He was a highly efficient engineer, and some of his achievements make us moderns blush to think of our limited advance in knowledge. He did a good job, for the Romans were good builders.

"The ancient Hadrian Aqueduct is in reality an extremely long horizontal well or infiltration gallery.

"HADRIAN'S plan—and it worked—was to dig this aqueduct, collect fresh underground water, and lead it to Athens.

"The great city used this aqueduct for more than 1200 years, then for some reason abandoned it. For four centuries the Hadrian Aqueduct was lost and forgotten, but finally it was found again, was cleaned out and put back into service.

"It was still in service when we got there in 1925, and one of our duties was to clean it out and fit it for additional service. Goodness knows how many more centuries it will serve, but it is surely a tribute to the skill of its builder."

Virtually all of the crushed stone used in building roads in Greece, including those necessary for construction of the dam, is prepared by women and children laborers. It is a common sight to see women, hooded like biblical figures, sitting on a stone pile, at work with their hammers. Their output of crushed rock is about one cubic meter per woman-day.

A SURPRISING thing, however, was that it was necessary to force the 5000 workmen to eat sufficiently!

"Strangely, the Grecian knows very little of eating balanced foods," Mr. Merriman said. "And we knew that the workers could not stand up under hard physical labor if they were not adequately nourished.

"Left to his own devices, the average Greek workman will eat great quantities of bread, and little else, largely because he is a frugal soul who wants to be very economical. He is seldom aware of the necessity of a balanced ration.

"But such economy is false, and we Americans knew it. Therefore we held out 27 cents per day of his wages, and bought food with it for him. We fed our men in their own dining rooms, exactly as is done in big construction projects of this sort in America.

"In fact we established a full-fledged town on the buildng site for our 5000 workers and the families of those who were married. By this correct and 'enforced' feeding we maintained a good standard of efficiency among men who otherwise would have been too undernourished."

It was necessary also to combat malaria constantly during the construction period, through control of the disease-bearing mosquito. Sleeping and living quarters were doubly screened, stagnant water was either drained or oiled, to prevent mosquitoes from breeding. Qunine—a specific cure for malaria infection—was issued daily to all persons on the scene, as an additional safeguard.

WHEN the extent of the new lake became known to residents in the country a hue and cry arose because of the alleged danger from malaria. Citizens protested that the new lake would be an ideal breeding place for the deadly anopheles mosquito, which is an intermediate host for malaria germs.

"But immediately a solution to the problem was offered," Mr. Merriman tells.

"Somebody told us that the Gambusa fish, common in Italy, was a deadly enemy of the mosquito larvae, the wiggletails that live first in water before emerging as mosquitoes. The Gambusa is a tiny fellow, the female of the family being the largest and getting to be 3 1-2 inches long when grown.

"We thought it might be worth the expense to send to Italy for a start of the Gambusa fishes, and to propagate them in the new lake.

"But when they arrived only 200 fish had been sent!

"Here was a lake big enough to supply water to a huge city, and 200 tiny fish dropped in to combat the countless billions of mosquito larvae that must develop. I was disgusted. But we dropped the 200 fish in.

"One year later I inspected the lake and found, to my astonishment, literally millions of the little fish. I don't suppose a wiggletail had the remotest chance of surviving in such an environment."

NEW DEEP TESTS SEEN FOR HUNTINGTON BEACH FIELD

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 5. —William F. McCaslin, who drilled the deepest hole ever put down in the Huntington Beach field and whose efforts to bring in a well from the deep sand below 8000 feet attracted national attention in the oil world, has taken over the Hanke well at Ninth and Ocean and will shortly begin a redrill and deepening job on this well.

McCarlin stated he did not know how deep he would drill the well, but that his intention was to make a producer out of it, either from the sands above 5000 feet if satisfactory production can be obtained in the supper sands from a redrill job, or from a deeper zone.

Bert Fowlie and Jack Heaston are perforating their well on the Heaston lease. The well of C. W. Patrick and associates on the Heaston lease is being cleaned out from a sanding up job. The Signal Oil and Gas company a block west of the Heaston lease is drilling deeper, having abandoned efforts to get production from the sands above 4000 feet. This well will go to the deepest zones if necessary to find production and may be the first deep test in the old field in the rich Garfield street area.

Mrs. Wiener Opens New Realty Office

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 5. —Mrs. Marie J. H. B. GROUP TO PROTEST BUS ABANDONMENT

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 5. —President W. R. Osborn of the chamber of commerce announced yesterday that he would appoint a committee from the chamber to attend the hearing before the railroad commission in Los Angeles Tuesday on the matter of discontinuing the Motor Transit busses between Huntington Beach and Santa Ana.

A. W. Frost is chairman of the transportation committee of the chamber under whose jurisdiction the subject will come and Frost likely will head the committee.

The bus line affords the only public transportation between this city and Santa Ana. The bus company claims the line cannot be operated at a profit.

Residents claim that abandonment of the line would work a severe hardship on Huntington Beach particularly when people have to attend superior court or go to the county seat to pay taxes. It is the last bus line operating inland from Huntington Beach and to this city from inland points and would leave Huntington Beach and the beach here isolated except for private transportation.

HOLD FUNERAL SERVICES FOR CRASH VICTIM

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 5. —Coroner Charles Brown conducted an inquest at Dixon's chapel yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock into the accident which caused the death of Mrs. J. P. Ward, 44, of Midway City, and the painful injury of George Mills, 60, of Garden Grove, whose autos collided Wednesday at the intersection of Garden Grove road and Cannery drive.

Witnesses at the inquest were Ray Bradford, state motorcycle officer, who was patrolling the highway and happened on the scene almost at the instant of the accident; Sterling Price, Midway City rancher, and his son, and A. H. Dixon whose ambulance was called in the case.

The witnesses had not seen the accident but had heard the crash and rushed to the scene to render aid. The verdict of the coroner's jury was that the accident was such that no blame attached to the driver of either auto. The funeral of Mrs. Ward was held from the Methodist church today at 2 o'clock.

FARM WORK AT CAPISTRANO TO HELP JOBLESS

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Feb. 5.—With the coming of spring conditions locally give every indication of improving. Farm work is being planned for more extensive areas this year than for several seasons before, and employment will be given many Mexicans in the fields. As soon as weather conditions permit, farming will open up, and it is expected that work will start on several of the large ranches by the middle of the month.

Cornealius Echenique has an order out at present time for eight men for farm work as soon as the ground dries. Carl Hankey, whose fine ranch on the Ortega highway, east of town, is one of the best farmed places of the district, will employ a number of men soon. At present Hankey is interplanting grapefruit trees in his mesa orange grove. Five hundred young trees will be planted in this grove. Several men are employed on the job. The large Forster ranches belonging to John and Frank Forster, the Arley Leck ranch, the Russell Cook orange grove, the large orange and avocado groves of J. Roy Smith, and the walnut and orange orchards of Guy and R. Y. Williams, will all shortly offer employment to men who have been idle for months. Stoffel and Brown, who operate an extensive tract of land in vegetable farming, will have a payroll that will support a number of workers, and Aaron Buchheim, of Doheny Park, extensive farmer and orange grower, will soon be putting on men in his fields and groves.

Between six and seven hundred acres of land never before farmed under irrigation has been leased by the American Fruit Growers, Inc., in this vicinity and will be planted with diversified crops, offering employment to many workers. Work on this tract will start shortly.

WEST WINDS

Here and There in Local Sport

By EDDIE WEST

Four years out of competition, as quickly as McCarter," blasts Ernie Velarde returns to track and field as a member of the Santa Ana Dons.

A lot of water has passed under the old bridge since Velarde last wore Santa Ana colors on the cinderpath, but time has not dimmed the memory of one of the high school's best although most unfortunate athletes.

Velarde reached the height of his competitive performances during the spring of '28. His best event was the broad jump, although he was accomplished in other events also, notably the low hurdles. With the possible exception of Norman Paul, he was the most consistent jumper in Hi's history, and without doubt one of its real "pinch" athletes, always at his best under fire.

But Velarde was extremely unlucky in that he was active during the golden era of Southern California prep school broad-jumpers.

In no season, before or since, has the Southland produced interscholastic jumpers of such quantity or quality.

There was Frank Wykoff, the Glendale sprinter, who then mixed jumping with his running. There was Dick Barber of Long Beach, the present intercollegiate champion. And there was Creecy, a long-limbed colored lad from Jefferson. Wykoff, Barber and Creecy all cleared to the immediate vicinity of 23 feet.

Velarde, soldom under 22 feet, frequently hovering about 22:7, was just another jumper with these boys.

I recall that in the Southern California finals Velarde beat the then existing meet record four times in succession, yet had to be satisfied with a modest third place. In any other season he would have been a cinch winner.

Four inactive years are a lot of years in track, but if Velarde can come back to his 1928 form he will win a flock of points for the Dons this season. Consistency was always Velarde's strong suit.

That perennial pugilistic optimist, Tod Faulkner, (Kid Mexico to you), believes he has found the answer to an old fight man's dream.

He is satisfied in his own mind that "Bud" McCarter, young Orange boxer, will someday lick his weight in well known wildcats. McCarter was the outstanding trackman in the Orange league last year, established a conference record in the 440. He has won three successive main events at the Orange County Athletic club.

"I've worked with fighters all my life but I've never seen one learn as quickly as McCarter," blasts Mexico. "I discovered Johnny Adams, taught 'Lefty' Cooper, dug up Roy Moore and started Zenaydo Chavez, but McCarter will go further than any of 'em. This kid's the real McCoy. He can't miss. Take a tip from an oldster."

"Toy" Blower's failure to win a letter in basketball this year eliminates the possibility of the Saint football captain breaking Al Reboin's record of nine major sport letters in three years. The best Blower can do now is tie Reboin's mark which he can do by earning numerals in baseball and track this spring.

"Red" Kidder made the grade in basketball, however, and now appears virtually certain of erasing the Reboin record. Kidder has already won seven, figures to get two more in track and baseball this year, others in football and basketball next school term.

Considerable dissatisfaction has been expressed by athletic authorities at Santa Ana junior college relative to methods assertedly used by officials of four-year institutions who induce Don freshmen athletes to enroll at nearby colleges.

The most recent case irritating Santa Ana coaches occurred this week when a certain Loyola coach is said to have influenced David Maxwell, halfback from Huntington Beach, to enroll at the four-year institution although Maxwell had another year of eligibility here.

Commenting on the situation, Bill Cook, football coach, stated that unless the alleged "Tampering" with junior college freshmen ceased, an appeal would be made to the Southern California Junior College association to adopt the transfer rule now used by coast-conference teams under which an athlete transferring to another major university automatically loses one year of eligibility.

Cook recalled difficulties experienced last summer when it was found that a certain Northern university was "after" Captain Mike Santa Cruz, Coach Cook hearing about it "just as the Don captain was packing his grip."

Santa Ana authorities believe that the time for major universities to usurp promising athletes is before or after the student has attended junior college, not during a two-year period the first year of which is usually spent in developing an athlete for his second season.

Officials here admit they are powerless to prevent influential alumni or "friends" from talking

PANTHERS PLAY CAPISTRANO IN TITLE CONTEST

Long revered in Orange county traditions, little San Juan Capistrano tonight makes its first supreme bid for athletic achievement.

Well established in second place as a result of its most successful basketball season, the Mission City high chool has a chance to turn the Orange league topsy-turvy by turning back Orange Hi's undefeated Panthers in San Juan Capistranos' gymnasium.

At the same time, "Hod" Chambers' Orangemen can cinch their first basketball championship in many years by blasting little Capistrano out of the race. Pickings haven't been so good for Orange in recent years, with major honors going to Tustin and Fullerton, but the Panthers are on the edge of the promised land and it will take a good basketball team to bar their path.

Some believe Coach Stan Gould has just that sort of a team at San Juan Capistrano.

The former U. C. L. A. star has built a very fairish offense around Russell Schneeberger, center, and Pete LeGekes, forward, and a potent defense that features such other boys as Cliff, Errecarte, Lawson, Latimer and Hererra. San Juan showed its class early in the race by trimming Tustin, giving that school its first beating since 1929, and then knocked off Brea-Olinda and Newport Harbor. Huntington Beach took some of the starch out of San Juan Capistrano's hopes with a 15-14 setback, but this will be forgotten in San Juan if Gould's men come through tonight.

Orange has four victims numbered behind—Newport Harbor, Garden Grove, Tustin and Anaheim. Garden Grove was the only team that really scared the league leaders. Coach Chambers will stick with his strong lineup of Joe Moise and Walt Gunther, forwards; Lawrence Leichtfuss, center, and Harold Welty and Ralph McBride, guards.

Coach Bill Cole's Tustin Farmers, shorn of their twice-won championship, go to Brea-Olinda determined to retain at least a first division position.

Anaheim performs against Huntington Beach at Huntington.

Garden Grove plays at Newport Harbor.

The standings:

ORANGE LEAGUE STANDINGS

	W.	L.	Pct.
Orange	4	0	1000.
San Juan Capistrano	3	1	.750
Tustin	2	2	.500
Brea-Olinda	2	2	.500
Huntington Beach	2	2	.500
Anaheim	2	2	.500
Garden Grove	1	3	.250
Newport Harbor	0	4	.000

Cards, Troy In First Of 2 Hoop Tilts

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 12.—University of Southern California's basketball team, still leading the Southern division of the Pacific Coast conference by one game, will attempt to hang on to that slender margin and perhaps increase it when it meets Stanford university at the Olympic auditorium here tonight and tomorrow night.

Contests this week end will wind up the Trojan-Indian four-game series for 1932. Southern California won the first two games with victories of 35-28 and 28-24 recently at Palo Alto. While S. C. and Stanford are playing here, the universities of California at Berkeley and at Los Angeles will be holding a "civil war" in the Oakland auditorium.

While Coach Sam Barry's starting Trojan lineup will not be known until just before the start, it is expected that the S. C. mentor will open with the same lineup that started last Saturday night's contest against California. In this combination Sax Elliott, sophomore forward, and Bob Erskine, sophomore center, team up in the front line with Jerry Nemer. The guard position with Clif Capps and Julius Bescos remain the same.

Stanford will present a revamped lineup with "Frenchy" LaCombe at guard instead of forward, and Reg Meade at LaCombe's forward post. Tom Cordry will play the other forward, Dave Packard center, and probably Jack Hancock guard.

JOHNSTON BACK IN SCHOOL AS PITCHING HOPE

Baseball, although not receiving an official call at Santa Ana Hi until next Monday afternoon, has attracted the attention this week of 11 leading candidates, all of whom participated in a lengthy workout on East Poly field yesterday.

Coast league baseball does not begin until March 18 but Coach Foote plans a rather intensive program of practice games, something that was impossible last year because of local high school financial difficulties. The Saint football squad made enough money, however, to virtually assure the school of a complete baseball schedule.

Marvin Johnston

Coach Bill Foote's Saints, captained by Allen ("Red") Kidder, will enter the Coast Preparatory league this spring with what superficially appears their strongest team in history. Seven returning lettermen, together with Marvin Johnston, southpaw hurler and outfielder who was ineligible last term, carry out this belief on the part of those who saw the 1931 Saints in action.

Unable to find a winning moundsman last season, Santa Ana was an "also ran" at the end of the conference schedule although its hitting and fielding was as good as there was in the league. Coach Foote tried half a dozen men on tre knoll without success, but the return of Johnston, who has a good fast ball and a fair curve, it quite encouraging. Even if Johnston fails to fool opposition hitters his hitting and fielding ability is sure to strengthen the club.

With the exception of shortstop, the Saints will have a veteran infield reporting. Verl Moyer, who covered the shortpatch for Foote both years, has enrolled at junior college and will turn out for the Don aggregation. Earl Halderman, catcher; Fred ("Porky") Bell, first base; Francis Conrad, second, and Kidder, third, are among the lettermen returning. Incidentally, all were 1931 football players.

Jim Daneri and Lawrence Lutz report along with Moyer. Both were 1931 lettermen, Daneri entering Santa Ana college, Lutz going to Cal-Prep, Berkeley.

Besides Halderman, Bell, Conrad, Johnston, and Kidder yesterday there were Bob Wimbush, promising second baseman and shortstop; "Toy" Blower, outfielder and pitcher; Joe Koral, shortstop; Al Manning, outfielder; Lloyd Kneeland, outfielder; Fred Southworth, former Lathrop shortstop, and Russell Baker, also from Lathrop, who can handle either an outfield or infield position.

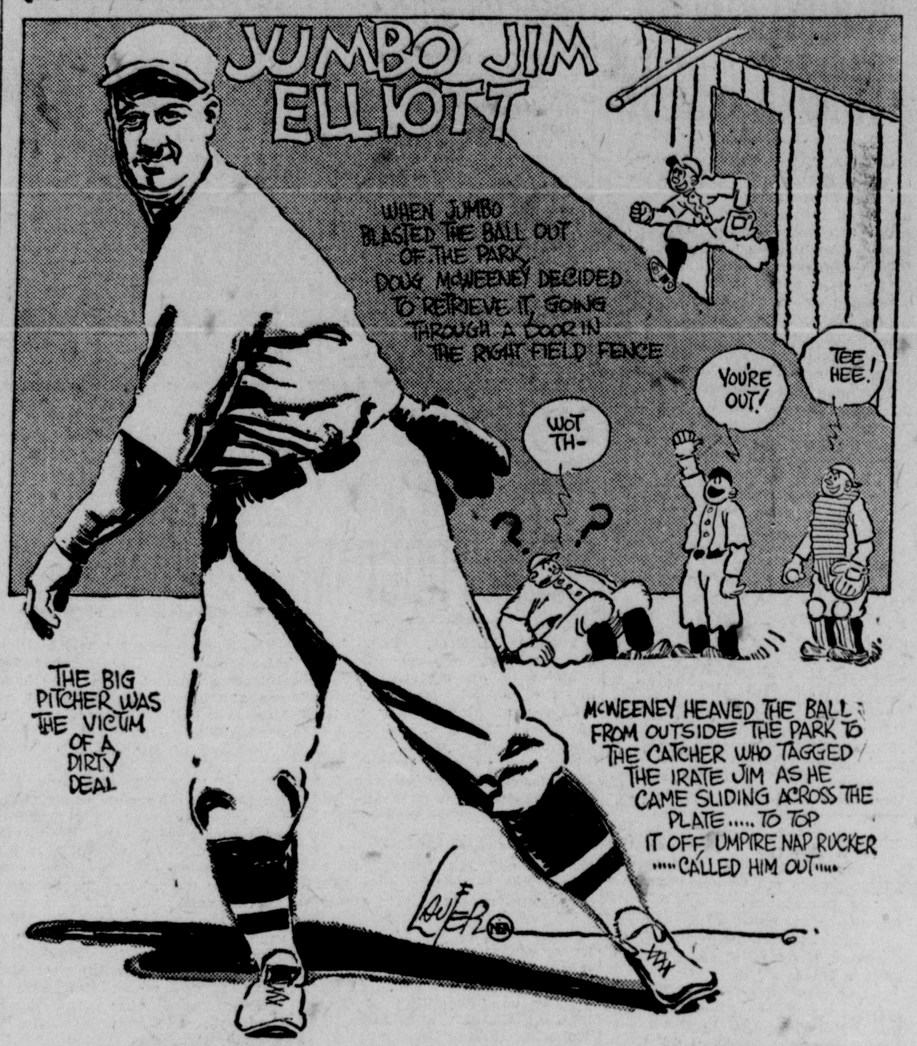
BRUSHING UP SPORTS . . By Laufer



THEY ALL LAUGHED WHEN JUMBO JIM ELLIOTT was called out at the plate after hitting the ball clean out of the park—that is they all laughed but Jumbo. It was during a 1928 spring training game between Brooklyn regulars and yannigans at Clearwater, Fla. The 250-pound Elliott had hit a mighty blast over the wall and was leisurely lumbering around the bags. Pitcher Doug McWeeney, playing right field, dashed through a door in the wooden fence and, from outside the park, heaved the ball home. When Jumbo rounded third, the catcher had the ball waiting. Jumbo sprinted, but was tagged as he slid across the plate. To cap the climax, old Nap Rucker, who was umpiring, dramatically called him out. It broke up the ball game.

DREYFUSS, BUC BASEBALL CLUB OWNER, PASSES

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—(UP)—Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the Pittsburgh baseball club, died in Mt. Sinai hospital today. He had undergone two operations recently for grandular disorders.

Death was not unexpected. Mrs. Dreyfuss was with her husband at the hospital, where she had been constantly by his side since his last operation, when the end came.

Dreyfuss was born in Freiburg, Germany, in 1864. When he was 14, his parents brought him to America and settled at Paducah, Ky., where he later became employed as a clerk in a distillery. The distillery was moved to Louisville, and Dreyfuss went along with it, still interested in semi-professional baseball as a sideline.

Saving his wages, Barney sought control of the Louisville club, one of the 12 in the old National league circuit. By 1892 he was the sole owner of the franchise.

The league reduced its membership, and Dreyfuss bought the Pittsburgh club in 1900.

Among the players Dreyfuss encouraged and helped to make famous were Hans (Honus) Wagner and Fred Clarke.

Seven times, since the Pittsburgh owner obtained complete control of his team, the championship pennant has gone to his club.

RESUME S. A. COURT ACTION TOMORROW

Two unfinished quarter-final matches in the Santa Ana mid-winter tennis tournament will be played Saturday in order to clear the way for semi-finals and finals on the Frances Willard courts Sunday.

Lewis Wetherell and Loren Housley meet at 2 p. m. to finish a match interrupted by rain last Sunday, and at the same hour Gilmore Ward and Arno Finster collide in one of the feature contests of the tournament.

The winner of the Wetherell-Housley affair goes into the semi-finals and meets Johnny Cress at 9 a. m. Sunday. The Ward-Finster survivor takes on Randolph Bell at the same time Sunday.

Tournament officials announced that entries for the open doubles, beginning February 14, will close Thursday, February 11. Entries may be made with John Cress at 118 East Fourth street, or by telephoning No. 3999.

CUBS ADMIT OFFER FOR NEW FLYCHASER

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—(UP)—The Chicago Cubs retained hope today of acquiring a hard hitting outfielder before departing for the spring training camp at Catalina. President William Veeck and Manager Rogers Hornsby returned yesterday from the National league meeting in New York where they opened negotiations for another outfielder, believed to be Johnny Frederick of Brooklyn.

"We have made a cash offer for the player we want and if money talks we should land him," said Veeck.

WOOD AGAIN BREAKS SPEED BOAT RECORD

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 5.—(UP)—Gar Wood, driving the speedboat Miss America IX set a new world's record today.

The veteran Detroit speed boat pilot negotiated the Indian creek course at an average speed of 111.712 miles per hour on two runs in opposite directions.

His speed bettered by more than a mile an hour the record of 110.223 miles per hour set by Kaye Don of England, in Italy last year.

RUGGIRELLO IS 'PINCH-HITTER' AGAINST SCHAAF

BY JACK CUDDY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—(UP)—Paolino Uzcudun, the "shell" slugger from San Sebastian, took his 12 gold teeth from the safe today and stuck them in his mouth.

The molars had been on a three weeks vacation, while the Basque heavyweight was training for his scheduled 15-round bout with Ernie Schaaf at Madison Square Garden tonight. But Paolino is not fighting tonight.

The former wood-chopping champion of Europe is 30 and never has been knocked out or even floored in his long ring career. But, the old body ain't what she used to be because one of his barrel staves gave way during training. The broken rib forced the Garden to substitute another heavyweight.

Scar-faced Salvatore Ruggirello, who eight years ago started boxing under an Algerian moon for entertainment of French Legionnaires, will substitute for Paolino tonight against Schaaf, America's fourth ranking heavy. It's his opportunity of a lifetime.

Schaaf is a 2 to 1 favorite. He will weigh about 210 pounds against the Italian's 205. But Salvatore has a 3-inch height advantage and the longer reach. Moreover, his straight right has the kick of an Algerian ostrich; recently demonstrated when he dropped Walter Cobb in one round and when he stopped Stanley Poreda in seven.

"HOME TOWN BOY" HERO OF AMERICA'S SKATE VICTORY

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Feb. 5.((UP)—Jack Shea of the United States won the 1500 meter speed skating championship of the third Winter Olympic Games today. It was his second championship of the games.

Alexander Hurtd of Canada was second, and William Logan, Canada, third.

By HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Coresponden)

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Feb. 5.—(UP)—Mister Webster could do a whole lot worse with one of .his thrills that come once in a life time than to depict young Jack Shea doing just what he did yesterday opening the third Olympic Winter Games.

For taken all in all, by and large, up and down, he just about went out and gathered himself the biggest thrill he'll ever get, even if he lives to see the day that Fanny Ward breaks down and confesses she's 40.

When Jack skated out on the ice yesterday for the 500 meter speed spin final there were gathered in the stands a thousand folks who had known him since he wore long dresses.

Pitted against him, and favored to leave him a couple of country blocks behind was Bernt Evensen, mighty Norwegian and champion of the world. The race was the first event of the Olympic competition and each of 17 nations was hoping to send its flag on the first trip up the mast head.

The gun cracked and they were off. A split second later Jack was out in front. He was out in front and going away when he crossed the blue finish line.

What does a guy think about when he gains such a moment of grandeur? I don't know, for the nearest I ever came to being a hero and a corpse, too, for that matter—was when I held a six inch firecracker in my hand and let her explode.

But Jack knows so let's let him tell. Tell 'em Jack, just like you told me.

"Well, I'll tell you, if I hadn't won I don't know what would have happened. There was mama and papa, so excited they just about died when we lined up. And there was me, so excited I was about to die along with them. Don't think I was afraid, 'cause I wasn't. But all last night I couldn't sleep for thinking about how I just had to win so the American flag could get up that pole first.

"You know, I've skated in lots of races and won a lot of championships but this Olympic stuff is different. Today, when they played the Star Spangled Banner and I walked around that track with the flag right in front of me, I forgot all about everything but America. That may sound kinda silly, but I'm telling you it gets you—that song and the flag. I'll never forget the way I felt when I was about 10 yards from the finish and knew I was going to win. I started looking then to see if the flag was going up. I like the kind of race where you get out in front of a bunch of fast skaters and have to go like hell to stay there."

BILL CRONIN SIGNS

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 5.—(INS)—Bill Cronin of the Boston Braves today signed a contract to catch for the Los Angeles club of the Pacific Coast league this season, according to word from West Newton, Mass. John Vusick, recruit outfielder, also signed.

BZY JAMES L. KILGALLEN
(I. N. S. Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—(INS)—"The greatest young player to break into the National league in years."

Bill Herman, second baseman of the Chicago Cubs and understudy of the great Rogers Hornsby, was thus characterized by Jack Hendricks, former manager of the Cincinnati Reds and the St. Louis Cardinals in an interview with International News Service.

Hendricks, a veteran in major and minor league baseball, was a visitor in New York, attending the meeting of the National and American leagues. He is regarded as one of the best judges of baseball talent in the business.

"Herman has everything," said Hendricks, enthusiastically. "The man field, he can hit, he's cool and heady in the pinch and above all he has courage. I think he is going to develop into one of the greatest stars of the game."

Herman came to the Cubs last year from Louisville where he batted .350. In the 25 games he took part in with the Cubs he hit .327. He deported himself like a real major leaguer. He is only 23 years old. He is 5 feet 11 inches tall, weighs 170 pounds and bats right handed.

It is virtually a certainty that Herman will start at second base for the Cubs when the season opens although Manager Hornsby told the writer the other day he intended to be a playing manager again this year. The chances are Hornsby will try to play third base.

"I ought to be as good this year as last, maybe better," Hornsby told the writer. "I don't think there is any doubt that I can hit. I suffered from a pulled tendon in my right leg last season but I have got over that. My bad heel does not trouble me any more."

"How many games will you be able to play this year?" Hornsby was asked.

He looked surprised, and replied:

"One hundred and fifty-four —why not?"

Hornsby said no, he did not think he would miss "Hack" Wilson, his chunky outfielder of last season who will perform for the Brooklyn Dodgers this year.

"On the contrary," said Hornsby, "I think the morale of our club will be better. Wilson simply didn't fit in."

Hornsby said he would leave for Catalina February 13.

FANS IN RUSH FOR JACK BOUT TICKETS

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—(UP)—One day's advance seat sale for the Jack Dempsey-King Levinsky 4-round bout at Chicago stadium indicated today that a capacity crowd will attend the Feb. 18 show. If every seat is sold at $1 to $5 the attendance will be 21,300 and the gross receipts about $85,0000.

Dempsey will arrive here tomorrow, and will appear at a meeting of the National Boxing association to clear up charges of leaving behind unpaid bills after refereeing at Columbus, Miss., more than a year ago. Gen. John V. Clinnin, president of the N. B. A., has indicated Dempsey will be absolved of all connection with the unsettled accounts.

THIERY DEFINITELY OUT OF CITRUS TILT

There will be no "Hen" Thiery, star forward, in Santa Ana junior college's lineup here tomorrow night when Coach Bill Foote's basketeering Dons entertain Citrus junior college in their fourth round of conference play.

Nursing a serious chalrey-horse, caused by a headlong collision with two Orange 20-30 club athletes in a practice game Wednesday night, Thiery will be lucky if he sees action at Riverside one week from tomorrow. Harold Spangler replaced Thiery in practice last night and probably will be teamed with Emmett Seacord against Citrus. He is an accurate shot and a good floor-walker.

WAGNER, RACE VET IN FIGHT FOR LIFE

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 5.—(INS)—Fred Wagner, veteran auto track official, a colorful race track figure for 40 years, was fighting for his life today in Covina hospital.

Wagner was injured New Year's day at the Oakland speedway when the race car of Byron Salspaugh, Rockford, Ill., skidded at 90 miles an hour and wrecked the starters' stand. Wagner catapulted to the ground amid flying timbers.

NEVERS AND NEVADA OFFICIALS 'HUDDLE'

RENO, Nev., Feb. 5.—(INS)—Ernie Nevers, former All-American fullback of Stanford, was to arrive here today to discuss with athletic officials of University of Nevada the possibility of his being appointed football coach of that institution.

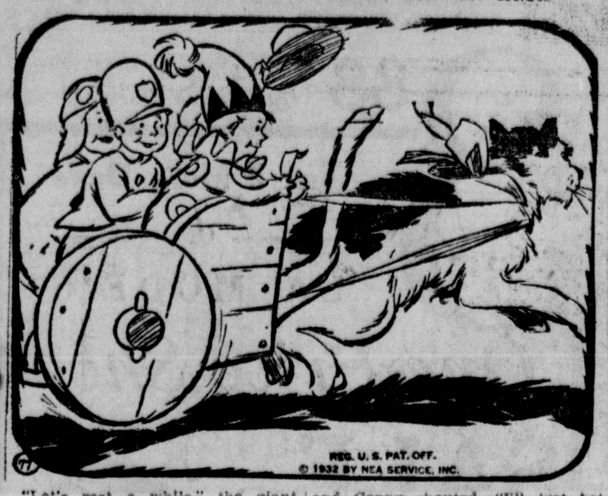
THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN — PICTURES by KING



"Let's rest a while," the giant said. "If you'll wait here, I'll go ahead and make a little lunch for us. My hunger's growing strong." Then Scouty said, "We'll lend a hand. We're willing to, please understand. Just lead the way into your house and we will trail along."

So, in the giant promptly went and 'bout a half an hour was spent in setting out good things to eat. It looked just like a feast. "Oh, my," cried Duncy, "What a treat. I can't wait till we start to eat. One good look at this food and, gee, my appetite's increased." "Bring forth the plates and forks and knives. We'll have the best time of our lives," exclaimed the friendly giant. "And we'll need some spoons, too. I didn't think 'twould take us long, but I'm convinced that I was wrong. Whenever you set forth a meal, there's lots of work to do."

At last the table was all set and Coppy shouted, "I'll just bet that I eat more than anyone." The giant then said, "Go!" But they began to eat too fast and he exclaimed, "Hey, make it last. This is the last meal you will have before you leave, you know!"

When everyone had had his share, wee Windy jumped and shouted, "There! We've finished and we're ready to start off in our cart. Let's hitch the cat up good and tight, so everything will be all right. We'll bid kind Mister Giant fare-thee-well, when we depart."

The cat was calm as it could be. Said Duncy, "That's cause it likes me." And then they hopped into their cart amid a loud, "Hurray." The cat began to move along and Scouty shouted, My, he's strong." The giant then bid them goodby, and they were on their way.

LECTURE ON CHINESE ART AT CLAREMONT

CLAREMONT, Feb. 5.—"Miracles of Chinese Art," a lecture illustrated by specifically colored screen pictures of masterpieces of Chinese art and architecture will be given Saturday at 8 p. m. in Holmes Hall by Herbert C. White and J. Henry White, brothers, who spent more than eight years in China gathering 4000 photographs of beauty spots in the country's gardens, temples, palaces and cities.

The White brothers are adding an exhibit Friday and Saturday in Rembrandt Hall of more than 100 large "camera paintings," enlarged in oils with a special process by Chinese artists, so that the natural colors and appearance of the subjects are faithfully and exactly reproduced. The exhibit is free to the public.

"Miracles of Chinese Art" will deal principally with the wonderful architectural forms and creations of the Chinese people during the three periods of the Yuan, the Ming, and Ch'ing dynasties, 1260 to 1911 A. D. which marks the zenith of Chinese architectural achievements.

FEWER CHILDREN IN FIRST GRADE

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 4.—Large families, it would seem, are not as popular as they used to be in California.

At least this deduction might be made from figures compiled by the state department of education, showing a steady decrease in the number of pupils in the first grade of California public schools.

During the school year 1928-29, there were 138,054 pupils enrolled in the first grade. This number decreased to 135,895 by 1929-30, a report reveals.

State officials also interpret these figures as an indication of a reduced rate in the state's population increase.

Catarrhal Deafness May Be Relieved.

A Simple, Safe and Reliable Way That Calls for No Ugly Trumpets, Phones or Other Instruments.

Sufferers from catarrhal deafness are usually very sensitive, especially when carrying around instruments that call attention to their infirmity. So people who are hard of hearing and suffer from catarrhal deafness or head noises due to catarrh will be glad to know of a simple treatment that can be made up at home easily and yet is very effective in relieving all distressing catarrhal symptoms.

From McCoy Drug Store or any druggist get 1 oz. of Parmint (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little sugar. Take a tablespoonful four times a day.

This treatment should by tonic action reduce the inflammation in the middle ear, and with the inflammation gone the distressing head noises, headache, cloudy thinking and dull feeling in the ears should gradually disappear. Anyone who suffers from catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises due to catarrh should give Parmint a trial.—Adv.

CHICKEN THIEF IS HELD TO ANSWER

Bruzzie is in custody at the county jail here.

Bruzzie was arrested in an orange grove near the Fiscus place when his actions excited the curiosity of the fruit patrol. Clews which they picked up led them to the Fiscus place, where the disappearance of the fowls was discivered.

$155 In Prizes Offered In School Safety Contest

COUNTY P.-T. A. AND PATROL TO BE IN CHARGE

With $155 offered in prize money for school children by Orange county business houses, plans for the California Highway Patrol's school safety contest, to be staged throughout Orange county with preliminaries on February 19 and finals on February 25, were under way here today.

Parent-Teacher association units throughout the entire county are sponsoring the contest, with George Peterkin, school safety officer of the Orange county squad of the California highway patrol, in direct charge of all contestants.

A set of examination questions will be given contestants in all the schools on February 19 and a winner will be selected in each group to represent the school in the finals. The name, age, group and school of each winner will then be mailed to Peterkin.

Divided In Groups

According to the plans, the first, second and third grades will comprise the first group, the fourth, fifth and sixth grades, the second group, and the seventh and eighth grades the third group. The first group will be given a list of simple questions orally and the tests will be thorough enough to definitely determine the outstanding member of each class. The other two groups will be given written tests.

On February 25, the P.-T. A. in each community is to see that the winners of the preliminary contests are transported to the First Methodist church in Santa Ana at 1 p. m. where a committee of prominent citizens of the county will conduct the final examinations and select the winners.

Judging Committee

The following citizens will be in charge of the finals: W. O. Hart, Orange; Judge C. P. Patton, Huntington Beach; George W. Reid of Anaheim; Mrs. Mary B. Robertson, president of the Fourth District P.-T. A.; A. S. Ralph of the Orange County Automobile club; Sam Collins, district attorney of Orange county, and John G. Mitchell, chairman of the board of supervisors.

Following are the concerns which have offered prize money: Excelsior Creamery company, $35; Orange County Auto club, $35; O. H. Egge Auto Body company, $35; and the county P.-T. A., $50.

Members of the committee in charge of the contest are: Mrs. Mildred Ridenour, Huntington Beach; Mrs. C. A. Sisson, Anaheim; Mrs. Carl Sutton, Orange; Mrs. Roy Beall, Santa Ana; Mrs. Mary B. Robertson, Santa Ana; and George Peterkin, school safety officer of the highway patrol.

BAPTISTS TO HOLD SESSION IN ANAHEIM

Representatives of 13 churches in the Santa Ana Valley Baptist association will convene at Anaheim next Tuesday for an all day session, according to an announcement today by the Rev. Harry Evan Owings, pastor of the First Baptist church of Santa Ana. The sessions will be held in the Calvary Baptist church at Anaheim. Arthur Blakeboro, moderator, of Whittier, will preside.

A parade will launch the morning session, following a covered wagon to the church, the theme of the conclave being "Pioneer with Christ."

From 10 to 10:30 a. m. there will be prayer, singing and a message from the covered wagon, which is touring the nation, in front of the church. The Rev. W. A. Petzoldt, D. D., missionary among Indian peoples, will speak on "Trailing with the Crows."

The Rev. W. E. Woodbury of Los Angeles, will speak at 10:30 a. m. on "Among the Lost Sheep of the House of Israel."

From 11 a. m. to noon there will be a missionary co-operation forum.

At 1:30 p. m. there will be a praise service. Dr. W. H. Leslie, missionary from Africa, will talk at 2 p. m. on "Pioneering With Christ in Africa." The Rev. Otto S. Russell, D. D., of Los Angeles, formerly pastor of the Baptist church here, will speak at 2:30 p. m. on "Pioneering in Southern California." George D. Knights, D. D., will give an address on "Evangelism" at 3 p. m.

From 3:30 to 4:30 p. m. there will be a conference on evangelism for ministers and laymen, led by Mr. Knights and another for women on "New Givers of Record," led by Mrs. C. L. Custer.

At 7:30 p. m. a praise service will be held, for which the theme will be "The Guide for Pioneers." Dr. Petzoldt will deliver an address at 7:45 p. m. on "From the Warpath to the Jesus Road." At 8:30 p. m. an address on "Facing Today's Frontiers" will be given by Mattison B. Jones, president of the Northern Baptist convention.

U. S. ARMY AND NAVY WILL PLAY "WAR"

One of the biggest war maneuvers to be held in the Pacific ocean is to start soon around the Hawaiian islands, in which a big naval fleet, marines and parts of the 30th Infantry and 76th Field Artillery will be an attacking force against the army and navy forces normally stationed in Hawaiian waters. Army signal corps photos above show: Field radio set and machine gun section in training. Below, the battle fleet, led by the California, in battle practice. Inset, Maj. Gen. Malin Craig, commanding general of the Ninth Corps Area, who will command the army's "attacking" forces.

COUNTY GETS $79,185 SHARE LICENSE FUND

A small fortune will be dumped in the laps of Orange county officials in the near future. This money, however, does not represent personal income. The total amount, $79,185.18, is this county's share of one-half the sum of $6,668,062 paid to the state in automobile license fees last year by motorists. Apportionment to the various counties was announced today by the state department of motor vehicles.

The money is destined for the county treasury and will be expended on road work according to law.

The total sum apportioned by the state was $3,334,031. One-half of the total license fees goes to the state division of highways to be spent directly on its maintenance program.

In announcing the new apportionment, Russell Bevans, registrar of the department, pointed out that the money "would provide means of keeping hundreds of men employed for another year."

The division to the counties was made on a total paid registration of 2,107,275 motor vehicles, the largest in the history of the state.

Los Angeles county, with a registration of 861,004 vehicles, will receive the lion's share of the money, drawing a total of $1,362,240. San Francisco county will receive $249,657.

Japs, Chinese Leave S. A. For War Zone

"That's a whole lot of Chinese," said one of two Japanese citizens lined up in the Orange county jail awaiting deportation yesterday, as he looked over 18 Chinese who were to be his "traveling companions" across the Pacific ocean.

The Chinese said nothing as they looked at the Japs, but there was a gleam in their eyes, unusual even for Chinese.

One Japanese prisoner was expected to be deported with the 18 Chinese, but another was brought here today from Los Angeles to make up the party. The two Japs immediately found consolation in each other and were talking earnestly together as the group left Santa Ana for San Pedro.

One Australian also was in the party.

36,672 VOTERS REGISTERED ON COUNTY BOOKS

Orange county voters have registered at the rate of about 1500 a day during the past month, it was shown today by figures announced by County Clerk J. M. Backs. The total county registration so far is 36,672. There have been about 24 business days since registration started.

The Republican lead over the Bourbon camp remained about the same as it was last week in the figures announced by Backs. There are 23,933 Republicans on the books and 11,165 Democrats.

In the "decline to state" column there are 936 voters. There are 208 Socialists, 321 Prohobitionists, 15 Progressives, 32 Independents and 62 Non-partisan voters registered.

That the first rush to get on the books is over was indicated in a comparison of figures announced today and those made public last week. Last week the total registration was 32,796, showing the rate of registration is gradually adjusting itself to a less hasty pace. In the first two weeks approximately 25,000 voters registered for a record.

F. B. FAVORS RETENTION OF FRUIT PATROL

The board of directors of the Orange County Farm Bureau placed itself on record yesterday as favoring retention of the fruit patrol "at least at its present minimum strength." The vote was the first taken since the report of the grand jury which suggested that the patrol be eliminated as an economy measure.

Farm centers will be asked to take up the matter and work actively on it. All the centers have expressed themselves in the past as being in favor of keeping the patrol on the job.

An opinion was manifest at the meeting in the Farm Bureau offices yesterday that the name of the patrol should be changed to night patrol, it being pointed out that the officers also make arrests of gasoline thieves, recover stolen cars, aid motorists who are stranded and do similar services in addition to protecting farm areas. It was pointed out that the patrol probably saves as much by prevention of crime as it costs to maintain it.

MAKE APPEAL FOR SUPPORT STUDENT LOAN

The Junior college Student Loan fund, for which a benefit program will be staged at the high school auditorium at 7:30 p. m. today by the Putnam School of Dancing, has received more application for loans this year than ever before according to an announcement from the junior college office.

"The fund will need all the money it can raise," the statement from the junior college office said. "At the end of this semester, four loans averaging $200 each were made to students who would have been unable to continue their college education if they had not received the money.

"Individuals and clubs are taking more and more interest in the loan fund this year, as they are beginning to realize the good that the fund has accomplished. Pan Hellenic society increased its contribution to $200, which is an increase of $50 over any preceding year.

"We are asking the citizens of Santa Ana to help this fund by attending the program to be given tonight. Last year the Putnam benefit program netted the fund $80. We are hoping to increase that amount this year. The program is a very fine one, good for both adults and children, as entertainment."

Evans, who is a kindergarten pupil; Lon Hina Mandujon, a young Mexican girl, and Bessie Hagerman, who is learning lip reading in order to help her in her studies when she returns to her regular classes in school shortly.

Miss Myrtle Collatt, who assumed charge of the class on January 4, following the death of Miss Jane Smith, former teacher, has placed about the classroom interesting exhibits regarding great men whose birthdays fall in February and January. Miss Collatt says her pupils especially enjoy pictures and she has installed a bulletin board where pictoral events of the day are posted. Current events are kept before the minds of the pupils each day, the teacher says.

BI-CENTENNIAL ALMANAC ISSUED BY PHONE CO.

Observing 1932 as the George Washington Bi-Centennial year the American Telephone and Telegraph company has issued an almanac which is being distributed to schools, pastors and newspapers in Orange county, according to Earl Morrow, of Santa Ana, district manager.

Valuable historical data is contained in the booklet along with astronomical facts and a record of moon phases. One important feature of the booklet is the life of Washington as pictured from the highlights of his career. Heading each month is a brief story of some important event in the life of "The Father of His Country" that occurred in that month.

The story of the development of the telephone is told along with facts relative to the service rendered in every section of the globe and important historical events of the world.

The booklet is prepared along the lines of the old almanacs in use during the days of Washington's life and is appropriately illustrated.

Church Congregation Plans Reception For Pastor

In their plans to entertain tonight in compliment to their pastor and his wife, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. O. Scott McFarland, officers and members of the First Presbyterian church are neglecting no details of courtesy and hospitality.

The party will express the pride and satisfaction felt by the organization in the accomplishments of the Rev. Mr. McFarland in the five years of his pastorate here, and will be given in the church from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock. All the friends with whom the honor guests have come in contact during their residence here, are invited to share the affair, regardless of their affiliations with the Presbyterian church.

At 8:15 o'clock after the guests have been greeted, the musical program will begin. This promises to be an unusually pleasant one, opening with numbers by the Santa Ana trio, Miss Ruth Armstrong, pianist; Miss Georgia Walton, violinist, and Edward Burns, 'cellist. The Presbyterian quartet which is becoming generally known by its new name of "Cantando Four," will sing. The men are Messrs. Alex Garroway, Cecil Crabb, Hugh Runnells and Walter Vieira. Duets by Cecil Fross Willitts and Sally Lee Scales will follow and the musical interlude will close with a sextet made up of the "Cantando Four" and Mrs. Willits and Mrs. Scales.

In perfecting plans for the evening, Mrs. F. E. Coulter, general chairman, has had the co-operation of a group of committee workers of her own appointment. Each has been given some definite part in details, Mrs. E. B. Sprague, the musical program; Mrs. James Metzgar, decorations; Mrs. Roland P. Yeagle, refreshments, and Mrs. John L. Clark, table appointments. Of the two men on the general committee, S. W. Suddaby and George S. Smith, the latter will preside as master of ceremonies.

Original Efforts of Players Result in Pleasing Program

The amateur and his works came gloriously into their own at the Barn, Santa Ana Community Players' haven, last night, when the talent of its members was exploited to a degree resulting in a program bristling with "personal achievement."

Outstanding among original efforts which enjoyed a public showing last evening was the one-act play by Miss Beulah May, a member of the Players and an artist of recognized standing in various fields. Her work, having its setting in Italy, concerns an Italian gentleman and a painter friend who plots to sell a gullible visiting American a newly painted portrait as an authentic antique. Owing to the fact that the picture still smells of wet paint, it is hung high on the wall, the conspirators being confident that the American will be too fat to make any effort to reach it. But the American proves more agile than expected and is afforded opportunity not only to "date" the painting, but also to reveal his admiration for the sister of the Italian gentlemen, who reciprocates with such enthusiasm that by the time the curtain falls he is heard objecting to "wet paint" from a second source.

Cast Lauded

Interpreting the play in more than adequate fashion were Mrs. Leland Finley, as the sister and lone dissenter in the plot; Victor Rees, who played the brother; John Colwell, painter; Dr. Paul F. Phares, American; and Arthur Collins, butler. Miss Lois Rees, in directing the players, was afforded further opportunity to reveal her talents along dramatic lines, while the playwright, Miss May, was showered with congratulations for her entertaining product.

Praise was also merited by the properties committee, which produced furniture and other articles of a type which lent authority to the Italian setting called for.

Three poems of Miss May's creation were read by the authoress prior to the play, these offerings including "The Old Inn," "The Workman" and "The Fresco." Their appropriateness to the play's theme made them the more thoroughly enjoyed.

Violinist Heard

A prelude was lent the performance in Miss Georgia Walton's musicianly interpretations of three violin selections: "Air for G String" (Bach); "Negro Chant" (White) and an original version of the old Italian air, "Santa Lucia." She was accompanied by Mrs. Grace Walker of Beverley Hills.

Two original piano compositions by Miss Dorothy Mayhew offered an appropriate conclusion to the program, Miss Mayhew playing "Puppy Dog" and "Run, Sambo, Run," humorous sketches which were skillfully recited by Miss Margaret Gaebe. Miss Mayhew also played a third composition, "March of the Cossacks."

An honor roll, to bear the signatures of those Players volunteering contributions to a fund to be expended in behalf of a piano for the Barn, was explained by Frank Lansdown and was fairly well filled before the end of the evening. A great many signatures are still needed, however, Lansdown said.

Announce Program

Mrs. Robert S. Wade, Barn chairman and presiding officer, announced that Miss Edith Cornell and Mrs. Warren Fletcher would have charge of the March program, which will be Russian in character.

Refreshments were served by a committee consisting of Mesdames M. B. Wellington, Ernest Crozier Phillips, Elsie Spruance, Miss Marian Bruner and Miss Mary Bowyer. Barn committee members assisting in program arrangements were Arthur Collins and Mesdames Paul Phares, 'Gene Hays and Burr Shafer.

That's why it is necessary to destroy and expel the infection from within.

In planning for the St. Patrick's tea, girls divided the responsibility of the various details among different Girl Reserve groups. The program was left in the hands of seventh grade Girl Reserves at Willard; the tea table, low seventh grade Reserves at Lathrop; refreshments, the two Triangle clubs; favors, ninth grade Willard club; invitations, ninth grade club at Lathrop.

The camp savings plan was explained, and girls learned that they can deposit small sums with the Y. W. to go towards their funds for going to camp in the summer.

Miss Genevieve Campbell opened Wednesday's meeting, giving the worship service of the day. Announcement was made that the committee for the recognition service will meet Wednesday afternoon, February 10, at 3:30 o'clock in the Y. W. rooms.

Silver Cord Masons and Wives Enjoy Dinner Party

Members of Silver Cord lodge, No. 505, F. and A. M., together with their wives, enjoyed another of their monthly social events Tuesday evening when they assembled in the Masonic temple banquet hall for the delectable dinner menu served at 6:30 o'clock.

Programs both varied and unique, have been a part of these gatherings and have made them so outstanding that both Masons and their wives have grown to anticipate the first Tuesday night of each month, because of its pleasant social features. At the February event, a valentine decorative effect was worked out beautifully on the tables, where covers were laid for nearly 100 members and guests.

Aside from the subtle repartee of Ira Hoffman as toastmaster, the feature of the evening was a musical program offered by the Canzado Four and their accompanist, Miss Ruth Armstrong. The Canzado Four is made up of Messrs. J. Garroway, Cecil, Crabb, Hugh Tunnells and Walter Vieira.

Interspersing the dinner, chapter and social events of the evening's program, were the songs offered by these popular singers, their repertoire ranging from grand opera to negro spirituals. Miss Armstrong's accompaniments were no small factor in their success.

The next Silver Cord dinner hostality will be on the first Tuesday night in March.

In Italy, where the cost of a radio receiver license is high, there are only 200,000 listeners among a population of 40,000,000.

Mercerized Table Linen

During the war when airplanes were taking all available linen being produced, the use of mercerized table linen became almost obligatory. And, like all things obligatory, we hated these cloths because they would not iron with the gloss of linen. I think the average woman still voices that objection, so, it is with pleasure I am publishing the experience of a housewife who reports a way to gloss these cloths.

During the war she bought two mercerized tablecolths. When it came to ironing them they looked like nothing, because when sprinkled and ironed as ordinary linen is ironed, the cloths were extremely heavy and did not finish well under the iron.

By chance, this lady found that if the mercerized cloths were ironed DRY, and with a very hot iron, they finished up like rich linen damask.

So many lovely table and lunch cloths come in mercerized fabrics today, but I have always passed them up because they looked so shabby after washing. I am grateful for this information and am sure it will be of interest to every woman who uses this column.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Mock Chicken Salad

2 cups diced roast pork
1 small head of celery
¼ cup French dressing
1 cup cold boiled rice
2 ripe apples, diced fine
Lettuce garnish
Mayonnaise

For luncheon, with hot muffins, or hot biscuits with jam, this mock chicken salad would make a meal anyone would enjoy. Then, too, it is a good way to use up odds'n ends of roast pork.

Put the diced roast pork into a bowl with the finely shredded celery and cold boiled rice. Pour the dressing over the contents of the bowl and turn gently with a fork to mix. Put on ice until ready to serve.

Arrange lettuce leaves on salad plates, peel and slice the two ripe apples into the marinated salad, put on the plates and garnish with a spoonful of mayonnaise and a few stuffed olives.

GRAPE-NUT MUFFINS

2 eggs
1-3 cup sugar
½ cup grapenuts
2-3 cup sweet milk
4 tablespoons melted shortening
1 scant teaspoon salt
2 rounded teaspoons baking powder
1 cup white flour

Soak the grapenuts into the milk while the rest of the recipe is being prepared. Whip the eggs light, add sugar and salt and whip, then add the soaked grapenuts and melted shortening. Sift baking powder and flour and mix quickly with the egg part. Have the oven hot, the pans hot and a little fat in each cup (melted). Fill the cups half full and bake quickly.

Something to drink, the mock chicken salad and the hot muffins ought to gladden the heart of any family. There are portions for five or six, and the individual calory total for each of six will be around 1000, including a temperate portion of jam.

Young People Return From Southland Honeymoon

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mitzel, whose marriage was a quiet event of January 22, have returned from their honeymoon spent in San Diego, and are pleasantly situated at 830 North Parton street.

Mrs. Mitzel was Miss Catherine Markel, daughter of the Jules Markels, 2130 Greenleaf street, and graduated from Polytechnic high school later attending junior college. Her engagement to the young business man of Orange, was announced by Mr. and Mrs. Markel just a short time before the date chosen for the wedding.

Mrs. Cheyney Company Is Re-assembled for Dutch Supper

Renewing the pleasant associations of so many weeks spent in rehearsing for the Community Play, "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney," and recalling the successes of the two nights' presentation of the play last week, members of the cast with their wives and husbands assembled in the Charles W. Hyde home, 1709 North Flower street, for a community Dutch supper as this week's sequel to last week's production.

Original plans had been to have the party in the beach home at Three Arches of Mrs. Harvey Smith (Mona Summers Smith who played "Mrs. Cheyney" in the comedy drama). But it was decided to reserve the invitation until warmer weather and accept the hospitality tendered by Mr. and Mrs. Hyde. Mrs. Hyde was "Lady Maria Frinton" in the play.

The same merry informality that distinguished the serving of the supper, was maintained throughout the evening with its varied entertainment features including discussions of the successful Player's productions of the past and anticipated ones of the future.

Called together for the evening with Mr. and Mrs. Hyde, were Mr. and Mrs. Burr Shafer, (Mrs. Shafer directed the latest play), Mrs. Harvey Smith, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Spurgeon, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Fletcher, Mr. and Mrs. Valmer Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Northrop Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Eckles, Miss Margaret Gaebe, Messrs. Earl Fraser, Robert White and Ted Roth.

Calumpit Auxiliary

At Tuesday night's meeting of Calumpit auxiliary, U. S. W. V., in Knights of Columbus hall, arrangements were made for some of the future social meetings of the organization, including the Calumpit Auxiliary Sewing circle to be entertained Wednesday, February 10 in the home of Mrs. Bertha Helmer, 405 Halesworth street. The occasion will be an old-fashioned quilting bee, and each one attending will contribute to the covered wish dinner menu. A dish towel shower for the auxiliary will be a feature. Hostesses with Mrs. Helmer will be Mrs. Carrie Adams, Mrs. Jean Tantlinger and Mrs. Emma Kellogg.

Other plans set afoot were those for the joint covered dish dinner which the auxiliary and Calumpit camp members will hold on February 23 in K. C. hall, and a hostess group was appointed to plan for this. Members so designated were Mesdames Elizabeth Erickson, Rosa Bauer, Frances Dresser, Bertha E. Dixon, Laura DuBois, Margaret Donavan, Lottie Elsner, Alice Gay, Bessie Fitzpatrick and Josephine Farrar.

Mrs. Elizabeth Moberley conducted the business meeting, during which attention was given to the bill recently introduced by M. Gasque of South Carolina, chairman of the committee on pensions of the house of representatives. This bill, conforming to the program adopted by veterans, asks that no distinction be made in granting pensions, as to the war period of the veteran, and is so drawn as to make service to the nation of equal importance.

Mrs. Tantlinger, legislative chairman for the auxiliary, sent night telegrams to Congressman Phil D. Swing and Senators Johnson and Shortridge asking their support of the bill.

Custom rules that a Korean passing his wife on the street, must ignore her as though she were a stranger.

"SECRET WITNESS" OPENS RUN AT WEST COAST HOUSE TODAY

A policeman listening in on a busy wire at the ground floor switchboard of an apartment house, rushes up to the penthouse, from the terrace of which a girl has just leaped to her death, and finds dying the man he just heard laughing over the phone! He has been shot, but there is no one to be found in the apartment except the victim's pet ape.

This is the thrilling start of "The Secret Witness," the Columbia picture based on Samuel Spewack's novel, "Murder in the Gilded Cage," and showing today and tomorrow at the West Coast theater. Una Merkel, William Collier, Jr., and ZaSu Pitts head the cast, which includes Purnell Pratt, Paul Hurst, June Clyde, Clyde Cook, Rita La Roy, Ralf Haroldе and others.

Una Merkel plays the role of a girl in a neighboring apartment who becomes part of the plot when William Collier, Jr., breaks into her apartment in trying to get away from the scene of the murder. Collier is arrested on circumstantial evidence, but the girl believes him innocent, and it is her intuition that guides her in finally solving the mystery.

"DANCE TEAM" WELL RECEIVED AT BROADWAY

A truly great picture, a credit to its stars, its cast, its authors and director, a film of which the entire motion picture industry can justly be proud of is "Dance Team," the Fox photoplay which was received with unstinted and enthusiastic applause at its first showing yesterday at the Fox Broadway theater.

Its stars are those incomparable "Bad Girl" favorites, James Dunn and Sally Eilers, its cast includes Minna Gombell also of "Bad Girl" fame among others, its adaptor and dialogist is Edwin Burke, who was responsible for the sparkling lines of "Bad Girl" and its director is Sidney Lanfield.

The story is a simple and human tale that strikes straight from the shoulder and hits hard at the heart. It tells of two ambitious youngsters, who, on a cash capital of a dollar and ten cents, start out to become Broadway's premier dancers. It realistically depicts their ups and downs, their winning of a dance contest and a silver cup at one place, their bodily eviction from another and their eventual success in Broadway's smartest night-club. But prosperity proves too much for the male half of the team and the dramatic complications that ensue maintain the fast tempo of the film until the very last fadeout.

The performances of Dunn and Miss Eilers are nothing short of superb. When the couple made its first success some months ago in "Bad Girl," there were many who said they could never repeat their human portrayals in that film.

NEW CEREAL FOOD IN "POPPED" FORM

Noel W. Frederick, former resident of Santa Ana, has been appointed special representative in Orange county for Foodtown Kitchens, Inc., of Chicago, Ill.

Discovery of a revolutionary method of cereal breakfast food preparation, enabling the discoverer to utilize for the first time the whole grains of wheat and rice, is announced by the Foodtown Kitchens, Inc., of Chicago. For the first time, whole grain has been prepared in a light, "popped" form that combines a greater nutritive value with appetizing taste.

The new process is being used to put on the market two new breakfast food products, consisting of whole wheat and whole rice. In each case, the whole grains are "popped" to several times their natural size to form crisp, tasty kernels containing all the natural benefits of the crackling outer hulls. The new products are known as wheat pops and rice pops.

CHURCH ARRANGES FAMILY PROGRAMS

WINTERSBURG, Feb. 5—An innovation in local church programs is planned for February 14, with family Sunday evenings, which was suggested and voted on at the official board meeting of the Methodist church and Sunday school this week.

This feature will be a general assembly of groups of all ages, prior to the going of the different groups to their respective rooms for league services. John Murdy was appointed song leader for this program hour, which opens at 6:30 o'clock each Sunday evening.

Arrangements for change of location of league groups taking effect at once was as follows: Senior Epworth league library; Junior league in social hall and the forum meeting in the church auditorium.

The annual Missionary thankoffering date was set for February 14 and Dr. William A. Brown, who returned within the year from South America, where he was pastor of the largest Methodist church in that mission field, will be the speaker. Dr. Brown will speak on home missions instead of his own work.

Members of Mrs. J. R. Gary's Sunday school class of women are to have their annual picnic at the home of Mrs. Tuffrie at her Placentia home Friday.

Law Discussed At Brea Session

BREA, Feb. 5.—L. O. Culp, member of the faculty of the Fullerton Junior college and president of the Kiwanis club there, addressed the Brea Lions at their weekly luncheon meeting yesterday.

Culp visualized the United States 50 years from now and predicted that most of the laws would be obsolete and impractical. The speaker was presented by Dr. C. C. Jarvis, program chairman.

At the business session at which Ed Curtis, president, presided, the principal discussion centered about the installation of signs bearing the name of the city of Brea and placed at points where motorists could not fail to see them. It is probable that the Lions will cooperate with the city council and the chamber of commerce in financing this work. Temporary signs were recently erected but more attractive and better signs are wanted.

The program next week will be in charge of Ben Sutton, who promises to have a minerologist present to give a talk.

SUNDAY SERMONS

BREA, Feb. 5.—Dr. Charles Hurlburt will preach at the Christian church Sunday morning and in the evening will preach at the Baptist church here. Both churches are without resident pastors.

Mrs. George Beer, a member of Trinity Rebekah lodge, was taken yesterday to the Fullerton hospital following an illness of several weeks at her home, where she was being nursed by her sister, Mrs. Sarah Shick.

LA HABRA

LA HABRA, Feb. 5.—Mrs. H. S. Lyttle left Monday for Topeka, Kan., to be with her sister, Mrs. Charles Darnell, who is criticitly ill.Mrs. Darnell is known to many in La Habra, having visited here.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul V. Wright and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wagner, of Hollywood, moved to La Habra this week and are making their home on South Cypress street with Miss Elma Wilber.

Mr. and Mrs. George Buckmaster and daughter, Norma, of Placentia, were guests over the week end of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Harwood, of West Rose street.

An old fashioned quilting bee was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Leutwiler on Palm Avenue. A potluck luncheon was served at noon. Present were Mrs. E Campbell and Mrs. Stanley Davies of Midway City, Mrs. Edgar Lautwiler, Mrs. J. E. Walker, Mrs. T. R. Gaines, of Fullerton, Mrs. Claude Ridgway, Mrs. F.X. Thuett and Mrs. John Leutwiler.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Berry and children were the guests Wednesday evening at the A. L. Racker home in Los Angeles at a dinner honoring the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Belle Berry, mother of Mr. Berry. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Chales Berry and Mr. and Mrs. Aubery Berry of Los Angeles.

M. and Mrs. H. O. Zehner, of Colorado, will arrive this week to spend their vacation with Mrs. Zehner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Middleton, of East Florence avenue.

Phil Dowds Cafeteria Committee

The new cafeteria began work Monday, February 1 under Mrs. Kosher, cafeteria manager, and her assistant, Mrs. Leland.

The committee this semester consists of Opal Roath, Virginia Cyr in charge of sandwiches; Leora Cowsert, candy; Gladys London, Beveredge Nelson, the cash register; Helen Koral, Carol Shands, the steam tables; Vivian Willeford, the ice cream; Freda Wagner, Mildred Beekman, teach new helpers; Lewis Ubods, Phil Ross, the window; Ivan Bone, Harold Eddy, tray collectors; David Germane, tray collector and dryer.

Mrs. Kosher thinks the committee is one of the best sent to the cafeteria to help, and will be willing to live up to the Lathrop standard of service.

Freda Wagner Uniform Committee

Today Mrs. Webber announced the new uniform committee which reports improper dress and footwear to the uniform board. The uniform board either advises the violator of the uniform rules or consults Mrs. Webber, depending on the violation.

Dorothy Ellison and Merle Lewis of the H9 class, Donna Baker and Dora Pool of the L9 class, Evelyn Kent and Harriet Skinner of the H8 class, Helen Warner of the L8, and Mary Tomilson of the H7 are the girls on the uniform board. The L7's do not have a representative.

The following girls serve on the uniform committee that reports to the uniform board each day: Dora Lloyd, Erline Farmer, Mildred Mulsh, Blanche Moon, Helen Vanderhorst, Evelyn Mustol, Eraylin Julian, Josephine White, Juanita Olsen, Lindley Roesler, Bernice Carpenter, Alone Miller, Violet Brown, Ruth Remel, Winifred Brown, Naomi Steele, Mary Jane Sarter, Jean Russick, and Doris Barge.

Lathrop P.-T.A.

Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. the Lathrop P.-T.A. met in round-table discussion in the Lathrop cafeteria. All Lathrop teachers were present and gathered around tables according to the subject each taught. Parents went from teacher group to teacher group for explanations of various subjects.

The P.-T.A. chorus under the direction of Mrs. Beeson sang several numbers. Mrs. Beeson also made a short talk.

Wins Prize

Marjorie Johnson of the graduating class won the box of candy offered by Miss Cornell for selling the most operetta tickets. She sold 32 adult tickets.

Piano tryouts for the advanced orchestra accompanist are scheduled for Wednesday noon and after school.

Guidance Instead of Clubs

Lathrop no longer has clubs. Each Wednesday, fourth period, beginning this week, there will be a home room guidance period instead of the last semester's clubs. The EGC, girls' club, will meet every other Friday, sixth period. The boys who are up in their work this period will be excused. The same system applies to the girls when the boys' club, IXL meets.

Today Miss Cornell, music department head, announced those who were successful in recent Boys' Glee club tryouts. Miss Cornell is still in need of altos and basses. The boys singing in the new Spartan Glee club are: altos, Ralph Wheeler, Preston Hauck, Philip Dowds, Allan Patterson, Lloyd Hengstler, Harold Martin, Barney Spicer, William Milligan, Ross Boyd, Bob Warren, Frank Was, Byron Quivey, Robert Holt, Lewis Dance, Fredick Wagner; basses, Stan Slayback, Winifred Gallienne, Arthur Porter, Lewis Woods, Robert Hunsacker, Clark Sharon, Clarence Barney, Eldon Klinganberg; sopranos, William White, Winston Henry, Russell Haney, Vincent Martin, Charles Neilson, Russell Lananbeck, Albert Vanderwalker, Glenn Cave, Wayne Maxey, Stanley Sebastian, Worth Elliot, Ormie Saunders, Lyle Hanson, Marvan Crawford, Mark Stewart, Jack Hutton, John Hall, Carl Carlson, Russell Johnson, Donald Nelson, Richard Coleman, Leo Lyons, Milton Crawford.

New Shower Unite

To the girls who have been in Willard Junior high school a year or more, the shower unit is indeed a dream come true.

An explanation of the shower building and its convenience was given by the girls' physical education instructor, Miss Dorothy Broadway, during a meeting of Every Girls' club.

The showers are composed of many dressing rooms with showers between. The baskets in which the gym clthes are to be kept, are in rows along the walls. The walls and fixtures of the building are immaculate.

Every Girls Assembly

Every Girls' assembly was held in Willard auditorium on Friday, to introduce the incoming seventh grade girls to their big sisters and to acquaint them with the buildings in general.

Mrs. Grace Lund, dean of girls, took charge of the meeting, as all but two of the officers graduated. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The seventh grade girls were then introduced to their big sisters.

This was followed by a short program conducted by the members of the Seventh Grade Girl Reserves, consisting of three songs by the melody quartet and a piano solo by Miss Helen Glancy of the music and art departments.

The rest of the hour was spent conducting the seventh grade girls through the buildings.

Banking Honors

E. D. Froeschles's home room, the H7-2 section won the honors in banking for the semester and was given a half day off last Friday. The classes' average percentage was 65.

At the beginning of the semester it was decided that the home room with the largest banking percentage per week was to receive the Banking banner for the following week, or as long as it was the holder. The H7-2 class was successful in keeping the banner for the entire semester with the exception of two weeks.

New Safety Patrol

"The members who are now on the safety patrol are only the first selection," Miss Mary Jane Steel, faculty advisor, said. "More members will be added in the near future." The safety patrol stands for law and order in the halls and on the grounds. The present members are Betty Hill, Edith Wilde, Malinda Stranske, Roy Penn, William Jones, Henry Genzales, Bob Wilde, Richard DeSmet, Ray Clark, Charles Spicer and James Webb.

Citizenship Taught

The social science department, under the direction of Miss Veda Ball, is devoting this week's class time to helping put over the new plan of school government. The four days are being spent in teaching school citizenship in all classes, from seventh to ninth inclusive.

"Citizenship Through Problems," by Edmonson and Dondineau, is the text in use by each teacher. Children are taught by outlines from the text and by the problems that are suggested by the authors.

LOOK AT WHAT HAS HAPPENED TO YOUR MEATS!

Something very interesting has been going on! Last year it was a long reach from cheap meats up to good steer beef of high quality—too long for many economizing pocketbooks—say, from 5c cost up to 16c, a difference of 11c. In the meantime, stores have urged cheap meats so hard, and the public has bought of them so heavily, that quality meats have been hammered DOWN, and cheap meats pushed UP in prices! THE DIFFERENCE NOW IS ONLY ABOUT 2c to 2½c PER POUND!—say, 8c and 11c! Peek's Market has never cut down on quality, and today we are sitting pretty with a reputation for the BEST, and at every-day prices that make it unnecessary for you to have to eat inferior meats in order to save money! Good meats, good prices, good service EVERY DAY! FREE DELIVERY.

Famous overnight..

SNOW-WHITE and fluffy . . . you love to spoon up this rich shortening and work it into the sugar of your cake. It creams so much faster and easier than any other shortening you've ever used!

And what a cake it makes! Fine, even texture. Almost unbelievable lightness.

That's why in a little over a year, Formay (formerly Parfay) has become the favorite shortening of California women. It performs this marvelous way with everything! Pastry made with it is always flaky and delicate. Formay biscuits have a special lightness and tender crustiness. Crullers, fritters, potatoes fried in its deep richness are crisp and greaseless. And your kitchen is smokeless, because of Formay's extremely high smoke point. (470°)

Formay keeps fresh indefinitely. In 1, 2, 3 and 6 lb. tins, or long 1 lb. cartons. Try it!

faces this question

"How do I look to other people?" If you have a lovely skin, attractive eyes, and plenty of enthusiasm, you need not worry.

So many women, though, risk their beauty by neglect of constipation. It often causes loss of pep, sallow skins, dull eyes, pimples.

Yet constipation can be overcome by eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. This cereal provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B which tones the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also supplies iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Special cooking processes make it finer, more palatable. It is not habit-forming.

Surely this is safer than abusing the system with pills and drugs—so often habit-forming.

Two tablespoonfuls daily will correct most types of constipation. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

At all grocers. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Frances Willard

Laguna Art Exhibit

A Laguna art exhibit was held in the library of the Frances E. Willard junior high school, beginning January 26 and lasting a week.

The paintings were done by very prominent artists of Laguna. This exhibit contained 25 beautiful paintings.

Through the courtesy and generosity of the artists the children of the school, as well as outsiders, were able to see and enjoy these beautiful paintings.

Senior Social Law

The new Senior Social Law club of Willard held one of its monthly meetings Monday to elect new officers. John McBride was elected president; Barbara Davis, vice-president, and Kathrine McDermott, secretary.

Games were played and refreshments were served by the hostess, Barbara Davis.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Harvey Baker, 1624 North Baker street.

Second Semester

Eighty new pupils entered Willard junior high school. Seventy-six graduated with the closing of the first semester. Seventy of the 80 new pupils were from local grammar schools, the other 10 being transferred from Lathrop junior high school and from other cities.

Friday the Willard Service and Welfare clubs introduced 60 of these pupils to their new abode of learning. Bill Hawkins, president of the Booster club, gave a short welcome talk, including pointed instructions of school spirit and respect to school buildings, to the boys of this new group.

The Low 7 boys were given their final initiation to Willard Monday morning by being paddled whenever caught unawares.

Hollywood Vogue

Willard boys, in spite of their proximity to Hollywood, do not take the interest in acting that Willard girls take. This is proven by the enrollment in the new dramatics class, under the direction of Miss Ruth Langley.

"Home Room Representative"

The home room representative consists of one member of each section and grade. The list of home room representatives are: H9-1, Franklin Guthrie; H9-2, Bob Cone; H9-3, Evelyn Shepherd; H9-4, Anna May Hendricks; L9-1, Betty Mellenthin; L9-2, Paul Bingle; H8-1, Ruth Greenwold; H8-2, Robert Davenport; H8-3, Fred Pimintal; H8-4, Harold Short; H8-5, Ralph Hein; L8-1; Marcella Stein; L8-2, Edward Fitzgerald; H7-1, Jenivieve Campbell; H7-2, Kenneth Sehroeder, and H7-4, Robert Criswell.

The home room representatives make up a student body council and in their weekly meetings will discuss questions pertaining to the welfare of Willard and make helpful suggestions. Bill Hawkins, president of the Booster club, will preside over this council.

Willard P.-T. A. Meets

The Willard P.-T. A. met in the auditorium Tuesday. H. G. Nelson, principal of Lathrop junior high school, spoke on "The Little Red School House Grows Up." Mothers of incoming seventh grade students were special guests.

Brea To Drill New Water Well

BREA, Feb. 5.—Discussion of the development of more water for the city of Brea held the attention of city trustees when they met Wednesday night in regular session, F. J. Schweitzer presiding in the absence of Mayor Craig who left that afternoon for Sacramento. It is generally agreed by the trustees that another well should be drilled in the near future.

Dr. Glenn Curtis, representing a committee from the chamber of commerce, appeared before the council members in a petition for assistance in the matter of having a neon sign erected at the intersection of Birch and Pomona avenues, a sign which will carry the name of the city in prominent display. He was asked to submit prices of such a sign at the next meeting of the council.

Crowe brothers, proprietors of the garage and service station at the corner of Date and Pomona, asked permission to reconstruct the curb in front of their place of business thereby making a much wider driveway which will be a great improvement. They were given permission to do the work.

business with promising jaycee athletes, but feel they have a right to complain when coaches are the guilty parties.

Short short sports stories: . . . .

Orv Schuchardt, peerless night baseball outfielder, is back in Santa Ana jaycee. He will play tennis instead of baseball for the Dons. . . . They say the only thing that can possibly prevent "Red" Kidder of the Saints from becoming a great college football player is feet, or rather lack of feet. Kidder's "dogs" are unusually small. Big ones are a real asset on the gridiron. . . . March 19 is the date for this year's Invitational track meet at Huntington Beach. . . . Did you know that the whole 1931 Saint football team may follow potent tackle Lawrence Lutz to the University of California? . . . "Doc" Moffett, veteran matchmaker who formerly handled fistic pairings at Wilmington and South Gate, is negotiating with Santa Ana's H. T. Foust for a lease on Foust's fight club at San Bernardino. . . . The municipal golf course at Huntington Beach has reduced greens fees to 50 cents, Saturdays, Sundays and holidays included. . . . Norman Paul is already hurling the javelin close to 180 feet at U. S. C. . . . Al Reboin will limit his track work to pole vaulting after his freshman year at S. C. 'tis said. . . . Santa Ana jaycee should have the best broad jumpers in the conference this year with Ernie Velarde, Doyle Gilbert and Paul Jungkeit, all good for better than 22 feet.

HAPPY LANDINGS!

BERLIN.— Baron Paul C. Von Gontard, just back from an airplane tour of Africa, tells the following story. The trip in the air was going splendidly until the motor began to sputter over a jungle. The baron hurriedly looked for a place to land and dropped lightly on the veldt near what he thought was a large ant hill. The plane coasted up to the "hill" and nudged it. The "hill" turned out to be an angry rhinoceros, who charged and completely demolished the plane.

JAPAN KNEW WHEN

Japan may be an outlaw among the nations, as far as adherence to treaties and to a peaceful program is concerned, but certainly she is not foolish. She knew exactly when the time was ripe for her to go after the very thing she wanted in Manchuria and China.

She knew that Great Britain was busy; she knew that France was tied up with anxiety for "security," and that the unemployment situation was just beginning to affect her; that the United States was in a condition where she had to pay attention to internal matters, without much disposition to do anything which should be construed as "meddling," and so she metaphorically speaking "threw all her treaties over the garden wall," and started in to really get possession of Manchuria and to actually stop the boycott from China.

The boycott was really hurting her. If she could accomplish this, she would accomplish much. Of course, it is something to know that there are limitations upon Japan's ammunition, and there are tremendous limitations on her borrowing power. She cannot last long from that point of view, but she may last longer than the Chinese.

In the local "Wheelbarrow," the publication of the Rotary Club, there is a little skit written up under the head of "Diplomacy," which is very apropos to the situation. May we quote it:

DIPLOMACY

An International Drama in Four Episodes

Tempus: The present.

Locus: The Western fringe of the Pacific Basin.

(Persons of the Drama)

Secretary of State Stimson, of the good old U. S. A.

Ambassador Debuchi, of Japan.

EPISODE I

Secretary Stimson: Excuse me. Just a moment, please. Would you mind telling me where you are going?

Ambassador Debuchi: Excuse, please. I much in hurry to catch train.

EPISODE II

Secretary Stimson: Here, wait a minute. We must talk this thing over.

Ambassador Debuchi: So sorry. I must be chase these wicked bandits.

EPISODE III

Secretary Stimson: Don't do that, please. You really are carrying the joke too far.

Ambassador Debuchi: Sorry, please. Chinese guns make so much noise I cannot to hear you.

Premier MacDonald: I say, old chap, you can't stop a boycott that way, you know.

Ambassador Debuchi: So's your old Mother India.

EPISODE IV

(The Japanese Government is proclaiming mandate over all China. Forces occupying Nanking and Swatow and advancing on other points.)

Secretary Stimson: Sir, your action is disturbing to the harmony of nations. We view your proceedings with alarm and indignation. It will be necessary to call a conference and have the entire matter gone over from the beginning.

Ambassador Debuchi: Thank you so much. Perhaps Mister Uncle Sam would like to chase honorable self to nice lake and see if can jump into.

(The curtain descends slowly, while Japanese Marine Band plays the popular air: "I Can't Give You Anything But Love, China.")

TAXATION AND ITS BENEFITS

In the midst of the discussion of highways, taxes, gasoline taxes, and license tag taxes, we would call the attention of the citizens and taxpayers to the fact that under the present policy, the cities, whose people furnish such a large proportion of this tax, receive practically no direct benefit therefrom.

All of the gasoline tax, and other taxes which come through the state and are handed over to the county, plus, of course, the 40 per cent tax, have been used on the highways of the county, outside of the incorporated cities. The 40 cent tax which has been a special tax for roads, of course, should be used in this manner, because it is a tax in which the cities do not participate. But it is an unnecessary tax at this time. Its elimination has been recommended by several grand juries.

The Farm Bureau has entered into a campaign to create sentiment endeavoring to prevent the Board of Supervisors from assessing this tax. We are for them in this program, but by the same token, we want to emphasize that the general county tax and the gas tax, should have their benefits distributed, and the cities should benefit, as well as the county outside of the cities.

Some years ago, we recall, Colonel Finley brought out the fact that Santa Ana's share of this tax, which was being used outside of the cities, was some three hundred fifty odd thousand dollars, from which the city received not a dollar's benefit directly.

Similar figures would be found true in proportion to the size of the city, in Fullerton, Anaheim and other points.

Both the city people and the farmers, either through the Farm Bureau or other organizations, should unite in insisting upon greater economy all along the line, and the distribution of tax money fairly, and such unity of money in use as to insure the largest element of economy.

We note an editorial that appeared in the Los Angeles Times of recent date, in discussing how Milwaukee has ended the year with a surplus in the treasury, called attention to the matter of unifying the funds. It said this:

> Another way in which Milwaukee saves money is by having all its cash in a general fund. . . . . Departments are kept strictly to their budgets, but so far as the City Treasurer is concerned one dollar is like another. HE HAS NO MONEY PIGEONHOLED and laid aside for a specific purpose, while money for another purpose must be borrowed.

We would like to suggest that this is a mighty fine policy to pursue. There should be no money pigeonholed for specific purposes, while taxes are increased, and burdens made heavier on the people.

If this country is as dumb as educators say, all Roosevelt has to do is raise a mustache, develop a grin and say "dee-lighted" to be elected.

MR. OGDEN MILLS

What may be expected with Ogden Mills, Secretary of the Treasury? From Washington come stories which indicate that we may expect little change. It is reported that during the past few years, Mr. Mellon has been called "secretary emeritus" by the newspaper men. Mr. Mills, it is also rumored, has been more in favor with Mr. Hoover than has Mr. Mellon. Mr. Mills comes from New York. His family, social and business affiliations are with the money mart in New York. When he was elected to Congress in the Republican landslide of 1920, it was from the exclusive upper Fifth avenue and Park avenue district.

Mr. Mills is the great-great-great-great-grandson of Robert Livingston and the nephew of Mrs. Whitelaw Reid.

He lives very well indeed, has his own stables and yachts and plays golf, when he has time. Mr. Mills graduated from Harvard at the age of nineteen. A law course at Cambridge followed. He took up the practice of law in New York City, as a preliminary to entering politics.

In 1912 Mr. Mills ran for Congress. His defeat was so overwhelming as to be discouraging. In 1914, however, he was elected to the New York State Senate. There he served two terms. In that office his particular forte was revealed to be taxes and finances. During the war he served as a staff officer with the A. E. F. In 1920 he was elected to the House. In 1926 he ran against Al Smith as gubernatorial candidate in New York State. The defeat was something of a blow to his self-esteem.

He was appointed Under-Secretary of the Treasury by former President Coolidge and in work found solace. A certain amount of arrogance and pride has kept him aloof and not popular for he has all the earmarks of a snob. As Under-Secretary it is apparent in Washington that he has applied himself to the qualities of developing tolerance and friendliness.

Mr. Mellon's change of position and Mr. Mills' succession will hardly bring any change in the policy of the Treasury Department.

Washington Letter

In Which Your Correspondent Explains the Difference Between the Various Federal Courts and the Supreme Court

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

Washington—This story is about federal courts because there are vacancies on federal benches and the Senate has been quarreling about President Hoover's appointments to fill them.

Federal District Judge James H. Wilkerson of Chicago has been named to the U. S. circuit court of appeals and Kenneth Mackintosh of the state of Washington, a former state supreme court justice, has been appointed to a similar job. Then there is also the matter of a successor to Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, who recently resigned from the supreme court of the United States.

Of course, if you know the difference between federal district courts, federal courts of appeal, the federal court of claims, and the U. S. supreme court there is not much sense in reading any more of this. Most people haven't any very clear idea.

The supreme court has supervision and control over all other federal courts in the United States, and over state courts where questions of constitutional rights are involved. It can and sometimes does toss out acts of Congress on the ground that they are unconstitutional—a power arrogated for it by Chief Justice John Marshall in 1805. There is one chief justice of the court now—Charles Evans Hughes, who succeeded William Howard Taft—and eight associate justices. The chief justice's salary is $20,500 a year and the others get $20,000. Resignation of Holmes, regarded as one of the greatest modern liberals, broke the court's so-called "liberal majority" and great interest now centers on whether his successor will be a man likely to join with the four conservatives or share the comparative economic and social liberalism of Justices Hughes, Brandeis, Stone and Roberts.

The high court gets appeals from both state courts and inferior federal courts. It may review the final judgment of state supreme courts or bring before it by certiorari any case in a federal appeals court. Having ultimate jurisdiction over nearly everything, the supreme court decisions have a far-reaching effect on the nation's economic, political and social problems.

A CHANGE OF MIND

(After reading certain news from the South Seas)

I've always nursed the notion
That islands in the ocean,
Where seas are calm
And many a palm
Lifts up its stately crest,
Would prove far more alluring,
Inviting and enduring
Than any spot
Of which I wot
For one who longs for rest.

And when my toil is ended
I thought it would be splendid
To dwell beside
The creamy tide
Upon a sloping shore,
To watch the mild commotion
That stirs a summer ocean,
To breathe the rare
And salty air
And never worry more.

But this once strong ambition
To dwell in inanition
On shining strands
Of golden sands
No more possesses me,
For many an island lately,
With palm trees tall and stately,
With many a quake
And heave and shake
Has sunk beneath the sea.

Uncommon Sense

By JOHN BLAKE

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

The city near which I live has been misruled for more than fifty years. A court of corrupt politicians, banded together by what somebody has called "the cohesive power of graft," is still in power, and despite recent disclosures of its manner of operation, will probably remain in power for a great many years.

It has been revealed that officials high and low have been extending profitable favors to their friends and relatives—that bureaus have been mismanaged—that taxes have been vastly increased to pad the pockets of the members of the ruling organization.

As a political reporter I used to talk with some of these organization men, and they regarded the whole business as more or less of a joke on the people, for whom they expressed a good-natured pity.

Now, under existing law, which can be brought to bear at any time, it is possible to put an end to this sort of thing, and enforce honest and measurably efficient rule in this city.

Why is it not done?

Simply because the voters are too negligent, or too lazy, or too occupied with other affairs to take the trouble to find out what is going on, and to put a stop to it.

* * * *

The very important business of this great municipality is permitted to be nobody's business except that of the crooks who use it for their personal profit.

I think it highly probable that even after all the recent disclosures, the crowd in power would be returned to their jobs by a sufficient majority were an election to be held tomorrow.

This crowd certainly regards the election as important, for it means a great deal to them, their prosperity, and perhaps their ability to keep out of jail.

So they can be depended upon to vote, and to get their friends to vote.

But the people who compose the great "meal ticket" do not take the same interested view of the matter.

They remain calm and unexcited, although now and then they do voice complaints about high taxes.

* * * *

But they still are not sufficiently interested to get indignant, and to arouse their friends and neighbors to indignation, and to take the united and relentless action that alone can end corruption.

The very important business of the city continues to be nobody's business but that of public office holders who make it their private business, and grow rich out of it without giving more than they can help giving in return.

I suppose there are many other cities in America which are just as corrupt, in proportion to their size.

And unless the voters wake up and do something about it, these cities will continue to be corrupt, and the grafters will continue to profit by the corruption.

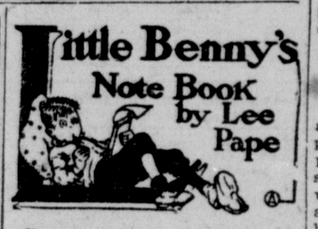
Little Benny's Note Book by Lee Pape



Pop was soking to himself in his private chair and ma was lissening to her rist watch not werking, and she sair, I wish you werent so averse to the movies, Willyum, I just feel like a good movie tonite.

I feel like a good one too, but how are we going to know its a good one till we've sat through the darn thing and found out its ony another bad one? pap said. If they'd ony show something instructive once in a while Id be glad to go, and then even if I was bored at least Id be learning something, he said.

Well now Willyum, just as it happens, that remark is as appro? priate as 2 peas in a pod, ma said. I mean I was looking over the movie announcements this evening and I noticed 2 programs of an educational nature, so we can go to one of those, I dont object to having my mind broadened now and then, I hope Im not that narrow minded, she said.

And she uick got the paper and started to look, saying, Heres one, Scenes from the Life of Shakesbeer, under the auspices of the Educational Board of Associated Colleges. What could be more educational than that? Its in the ball room of the Stitz Hotel, ma said.

I think it can stay there, pop said. What was the other thing you mentioned? he said, and ma said, Here it is, Wild Berd Life on the South American Pampas, under the auspices of the Affiliated Ladies Auxiliaries. Its at the Junior and Senior Literrary and Debating Club. That sounds rather refreshing, dont you think so, Willyum? she said.

Lets see the paper a minnit, pop said. And he started to look at it, saying, Theres something at the Narcississ called The Bob Hair Bandit, sippose we go there and then we'll be staying in our own nayberhood like law abiding citizens.

That suits me, hee hee, tawk about us wimmin being funny people, you men are just as funny, ma said.

In the Long Ago

From The Register Files
14 Years Ago Today.

FEBRUARY 5, 1918

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Rankin and John Henderson returned from Riverside where Herbert Rankin was one of the speakers at the Riverside County Intermediate Christian Endeavor conference.

F. P. Nickey, J. P. Baumgartner, A. C. Black and C. S. Kendall formed a manufacturing committee of the Chamber of Commerce, conferring on the proposed plan to bring Fatty Arbuckle and his company to Santa Ana for the production of the Arbuckle comedies.

H. J. Forgy purchased a North Broadway lot of 94 feet frontage, upon which he planned to build

The Santa Ana Valley Irrigation company, at its annual meeting in Orange, returned the old officers, including W. A. Ralph, superintendent, and Secretary Mansur, together with the board of directors, to serve another year. Construction work of the year was reported, showing the improvement of the system of ditches by the addition of over 15,000 feet of pipe line at various places, and the building of a cement sluiceway 1000 feet in length, connecting the main canal with the river.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

THE CHALLENGE OF INTERDEPENDENCE

Certain obviously international issues may figure directly or indirectly in the 1932 campaign.

The World Court.

The League of Nations.

The Cancellation, Postponement, or Repudiation of International Debts.

The competing platforms may do no more than vie with each other in techniques of evasion respecting these and related issues.

I am quite aware that there is much sound sense on both sides of such issues as The World Court and The League of Nations.

Despite the fact that my own mind functions consistently in terms of the obvious interrelatedness of the modern world, I do not set down as stone age reactionaries those who feel some hesitancy in embroiling the United States in the uncertain fortunes of European politics.

I am convinced that the present status of world affairs might be drastically and desirably different had the United States proposed, at the end of the war, a wholesale cancellation of international war debts, contingent upon a rational program of disarmament and a realistic program of equitable economic relations the world around.

But that did not happen.

And today the drift of affairs has changed the character of the World Court and League of Nations issues.

They are not as simple and clear as they might have been made in 1918 and 1919.

But the fact remains that the modern world is unavoidably interdependent.

No nation can today go it alone as a swashbuckling braggart.

The nations must hang together or hang separately.

Exclusiveness is today a kind of national execution.

Will the leadership emerging from the 1932 campaign realize this?

Will it follow the rabble-rousers or the realists?

Will it be a leadership that will write a Declaration of Interdependence, or will it be a leadership blind enough to think it can write a Declaration of Independence?

Our Children

By Angelo Patri

POPULARITY

When children arrive at school age they are touched by the popularity notion. "If I can't be popular I want to pass out," said one intense young miss whose teacher had cautioned her about her grades and her behavior.

"Isn't your class standing anything to you? Would you pay for this passing favor of the boys and your group with a failure? Your people are going to feel very badly about it if you do."

"O, I know. You and mother are just alike. You preach at me all the time. If I look crooked you think I'm on the downward path. Goodness, a girl must have a little life, musn't she? You don't expect me to be an old woman before my time."

So skillfully does the young lady put mother and teacher on the defensive, confuse the issue, and go her own popular way. she thinks her world is at her feet, if the boys carry her books home, ask for dates, and the rest of the trimmings that go along with popularity. She doesn't seem to know, or see, that this popularity is as fleeting as it is flimsy. Let another girl a bit more dashing, a shade more daring, come along and she is dropped like a cold potato. The popularity game always ends in disapointment. Real popularity comes late. Even then it is dangerous.

I had a wise old teacher who used to say, "Watch out, When everybody praises you it usually means that you have not been doing your duty. When you attend to your job you are certain to tread on somebody's toes and he is in a mood to kick you. If nobody has found fault with you this day go home and examine yourself to discover wherein your weakness lies."

I am not saying that it is not possible for boys and girls to be honestly and throughly liked by their classmates but I am trying to warn those who seek popularity by the cheap and easy route of compliance, carelessness, idleness and surface varnish. That sort of thing is very EXPENSIVE IN TIME AND VITALITY. It takes the power that ought to be going into growth and fritters it away on useless trifles that bring no return save some careless remark like, "Some baby, that girl," "He's certainly the Cat's."

It is the fashion for the popular boys and girls to scoff at the more earnest group who take lessons seriously, who attend to their business with sure purpose. "Perfection Pete," "Sweet Sister," "Mother's Darling," Teacher's Pet," are some of the names that hurt these worthwhile young people. But not for long. The day comes when knowledge and understanding and discipline prevail and the serious pupil wins the day.

It is possible to have good fun and still attend to business. The usual healthy high school student gets a lot of pleasure out of his work. The popularity hounds gets nothing from any place. He finds the world a cold place for one who has nothing but his winning ways to offer.

Real popularity comes uninvited. It is the homage paid to well derserved sucess. It is the only kind worth having. The cheaper sort becomes a heavy handicap.

SINKING OF TUSCANIA

On Feb. 5, 1918, the British ship Tuscania, carrying American troops, was sunk by a submarine off the north coast of Ireland.

There were 2179 American soldiers aboard. First reports said that there were 82 known dead and 216 missing. However, 164 bodies were ltaer washed ashore on the Scottish coast and buried there. At the time 30 or more bad not been identified.

A number of the crew were killed in the explosion in the engine room.

The soldiers were mostly National Guardsmen from Michigan and Wisconsin.

The Tuscania was torpedoed in the early morning. Two torpedoes were launched at the ship, but one passed astern. Rescue work was done by British destroyers and trawlers.
